EDMONTON (CP)—Albert Wells, 42-year-old paraplegic who operates a hand-controlled car, was charged with drunken driving and illegal possession of liquor yesterday after a 75-mile-an-hour chase. He pleaded not guilty to the drunken driving charge and was remanded until July 5.

Eichmann Aide Arrested

BONN (UPI) — The West German government disclosed Thursday the arrest "some months ago" of notorious Nazi war criminal William Koppe, accused of helping Adolf Eichmann in the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews. Bonn also said Argentina has agreed to extradite to West Germany Josef Mengele, chief doctor of Auschwitz concentration camp. He was arrested last month. Koppe, a former general in the SS, helped supervise the occupation of Poland when Eichmann was organizing his extermination of Jews.

Israeli Act Illegal-UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN Security Council decided Thursday Israel acted illegally in gaining custody of Adolf Eichmann, but side-stepped any direct call for his return to Argentina. It approved a mild Argentina resolution aimed at soothing that country's feelings over the incident. (See also Page 20.)

Argentina Satisfied?

BUEENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's undersecretary for foreign relations, Miguel Angel Centeno, indicated Thursday night that Argentina might accept Israel's apologies as adequate reparation in the Eichmann case.

Premier Bennett announced last night he will give Garibaldi Park to the federal government if Ottawa will develop it to winter Olympic standards in time for the 1968 Olympic Games.

He made the statement at Squamish, almost within sight of majestic Mt. Garibaldi, after presiding over a cabinet meeting there.

BRIGHT JEWEL

The offer represented a change-of-heart for the premier, who has referred to the provincial park as one of B.C.'s "brightest jewels" and spurned any suggestion that Ottawa should have anything to do with it.

But it may have been a tongue-in-cheek change-of-heart, for it came only a short time after a delegation told the cabinet it would cost $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 to develop the park to Olympic standards.

TWO HALVES

Previously, the premier had advised Ottawa that B.C. would put up half the money to stage the 1968 winter Olympics if Ottawa would put up the other half.

Ottawa replied it could not spend federal funds developing a provincial park and suggested that in order to get around that obstacle British Columbia might give the park to the nation.

DESIRABLE SITE

If Ottawa is prepared to accept the new offer, Premier Bennett wants it in writing, for "... it would be foolhardy to hand it over any other way," he said.

Garibaldi was named as a desirable winter games site earlier this year by Sidney Dawes, Canadian member of the Olympic committee. Garibaldi Park covers about 1,000 square miles and was created by the provincial government in 1926.

Its boundaries come within 40 miles of Vancouver and it is recognized as one of Canada's finest scenic areas.

Walker Paddles His Own Canoe

OTTAWA (CP) — Works Minister Walker, whose new office building is on the bank of the Rideau River, says he intends to paddle a canoe to work.

Mr. Walker, 55, lives a mile farther upstream from the new Sir Charles Tupper Building about 10 miles from Parliament Hill. His lawn runs to the water's edge.

"I find it is only taking me about 18 minutes to go more than a mile, and I find it keeps me in good shape," Mr. Walker said.

He plans to go to work by canoe "every day I have the time." However, it won't become a daily habit until after the current session of Parliament ends. During sessions, Mr. Walker makes his office headquarters in the Parliament Buildings. The Toronto Rosedale member, who has been minister since last Aug. 20, plans to keep an extra pair of pressed trousers in his Tupper building office to change after paddling to work.

Canadians Misled, 'Won't Survive'

OTTAWA (CP)—Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam) said Thursday he is worried that Canadians are being led to think there is hope for survival in nuclear war.

"There is no defence, and we will not survive a nuclear war," he said in the Commons.

Mr. Regier said he felt "utter dismay" at the government's recent publication of a booklet on how to build basement shelters against radioactive fallout.

"I hope this is not part of a conditioning process of the public mind."

No Canadian had any reason to expect he could live through an all-out nuclear war.

Wicks Acts

Northern Railway Gets Go-Ahead

SQUAMISH (CP)—Railways Minister Wicks said Thursday night he has given the Pacific Northern Railway the go-ahead on construction. (See Page 8.)

The minister said in an interview he had approved plans under the Railway Act and construction could start.

Specific plans approved were all rail marshalling yards at Summit Lake, north of Prince George, where the PNR starts its proposed route through to the Yukon border.

He said there are some technical details to straighten out before work begins but it should go ahead before the end of June.

Under an agreement with the government, the company must start building the 700-mile railway before June 30. But PUC hearings cannot take place until the middle of July at the earliest.

Recently Premier Bennett said construction was expected to start on time—under the Railways Act.

Silence Shrouds Bond

By TERRY HAMMOND

Where is the $500,000 "good faith" bond posted by the Wenner-Gren interests with the provincial government in 1956?

A series of developments here and in Vancouver yesterday indicated that the government may no longer have it.

Reporters trying to learn the present whereabouts of the surety yesterday ran into a stone wall and one remarkable case of forgetfulness.

CAN'T RECALL

Asked pointblank if the $500,000 bond had been returned to the Wenner-Gren interests, Einar M. Gunderson, a former B.C. finance minister and now a director of Wenner-Gren Development Co., said, "It's just slipped my mind."

Pressed further by a Colonist reporter he replied, "Just at this point I can't remember."

WOULDN'T SAY

Earlier yesterday Dr. J. V. Fisher, economic adviser to the B.C. government, said he would make no comment when queried on the whereabouts of the bond.

Contacted yesterday afternoon by reporters, the premier's executive assistant, who was accompanying him to a Squamish cabinet meeting, told reporters he would bring to the attention of Mr. Bennett the interest in the fate of the bond.

NOT TAKING ANY

But when contacted last night, the premier's aide referred the Colonist to the premier himself who was registered at the Vancouver Hotel.

When Mr. Bennett's room was reached the reply was that he was not taking any telephone calls.

RETICENCE NEW

Newsman recalled that previously the government was always happy to announce the half-million-dollar surety was still in the possession of the province.

The bond was posted by the Wenner-Gren interests as a guarantee that they would fulfill certain undertakings in connection with its exploration and engineering projects in the Peace River area.

OBLIGATIONS

Originally posted in 1956 as a guarantee that the Wenner-Gren people would spend a minimum of $5,000,000 on surveys and engineering in the Peace River-Rocky Mountain Trench area, the bond became a continuing obligation under the 1957 Wenner-Gren hydro agreement.

One of the conditions under which the bond was held in connection with the power agreement was that the principals would "proceed with the construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River" if engineering studies and surveys substantiated "preliminary conclusions."

The premier is expected to make a statement on the performance bond later this week.

Higher Meter Fee, Tax Fears Blamed

By R. O. MARRION

Victoria property-owners emphatically said "no" yesterday to borrowing $1,000,000 for a parking and mall project intended to revitalize the centre of the city.

Of 6,978 who voted, 4,537 said no and 2,344—only 34 per cent—said yes. To pass, 60 per cent would have had to vote for it.

38 PER CENT

Nearly 38 per cent of those eligible to vote cast ballots, a "very good turnout" for a plebiscite, returning officer M. F. Hunter said.

Mayor Percy Scurrah attributed the defeat of the bylaw—unanimously endorsed by city council—to two factors. One, he said, was the plan to increase parking meter fees. The extra revenue would have been used to make payments on the loan.

UNJUSTIFIED FEAR

The other, he said, was "unjustified fear of an increase in taxes."

"I regret," said the mayor, "that the electors haven't agreed with the unanimous, considered judgment of the councils of 1958, 1959 and 1960. However, it is the way the people of the city want it, if they are satisfied with the parking situation, that's fine with me."

DEMOCRATIC WAY

"That's the democratic way of settling it, and I haven't any fault to find with the result."

Council will discuss the situation, he said, "but we haven't any alternative plan, up to the moment." Nor, he thought, could the small merchants provide the needed off-street parking. "They just haven't that kind of money."

GREATLY PLEASED

By contrast, J. Donald Smith, MLA, was greatly pleased with the results of the voting.

"I certainly want to congratulate the citizens of Victoria on turning down the $1,000,000 bylaw," he said when it became apparent, early in the counting of ballots, that the defeat was going to be in the order of two to one.

MORE POSITIVE

"I suggest now a more positive approach to the problem," he said, "a solution whereby all the merchants of the city will benefit, not just a small group. The downtown merchants have spent enough to have gone a long way in providing accommodation for many automobiles. I hope now that the machine so active in the last year and a half will be put to bed in the interests of the citizens."

JOSH EACH OTHER

But he and Mayor Scurrah managed to josh each other, and both had a good laugh over a telegram from the "Around Town Taxpayers' Association" to Mr. Smith saying, "Congratulations, How do your dandelions grow?"

Former alderman Robert Macmillan, who like Mr. Smith was defeated by Mayor Percy Scurrah last December in an election with the parking and mall plan as the main issue, and who was one of the main opponents of the plan in the campaign before yesterday's vote, said he now looked forward to "an era of business improvement by business—it certainly can stand improvement."

The bylaw rejection coupled with the Hillside Plaza shopping centre development, he said, "is the best thing that's happened in many years."

DISAPPOINTED

"I'm disappointed that we couldn't revitalize the downtown area with this plan, particularly in view of the announcement of the Hillside Plaza development which undoubtedly will have a marked effect on the downtown core," said city engineer James Garnett.

"Auto mobile registration this year is 7 per cent higher than last year and more than 100 per cent greater than 10 years ago, and if this trend continues, as it undoubtedly will, something will have to be done if downtown Victoria is to remain healthy."

His assistant and the designer of the plan, Roderick Clack, said he felt the defeat "means the loss of one of the greatest opportunities we are likely to have for civic revitalization."

VERY IMPORTANT

And T. G. Denny, a member of the Victoria Downtown Business Association, said the association was greatly disappointed.

"We felt that with the recent announcement of development away from the city centre people would realize how very, very important this plan was to all of us in Victoria," he said.

"I feel that this has set us back years. We had a tremendous opportunity without changing taxes to develop a wonderful plan."

NOT UNDERSTOOD

Mr. Denny said he believed too few voters really understood the plan—"I'm sure everyone who understood it was in favor of it."

Downtown business now would have to pursue "second lines of thought," he said, but he didn't see how merchants could provide the necessary parking. Even if they had the capital, he said, they lacked power to expropriate property as the city could.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

CECIL HYNDMAN believes he has the world's only hand-reared seagull.

Birds that were picked up injured don't count, he says. Neither does he take a serious view of birds that were adopted when they were nestlings, and are still hanging around a human dwelling as free-loaders.

Mr. Hyndman, a purist of the bird-fancying world, is talking about birds raised right from the egg. That's what he means by fully hand-reared. And "Itchy-Pitchy Poo," who lives at "Featherland," the Hyndman's wildlife garden on Burnside Road, is that kind of gull.

"Itchy" is a one-year-old female gull-winged gull. Cecil Hyndman picked her up as she was hatching. He is one of the few people who are entitled to rear a seagull, being the holder of a special government licence as a menagerie operator.

In the wild state, seagulls are fed regurgitated food that contains certain obscure enzymes. Unless the mixture is right, says Mr. Hyndman, a small seagull can die in a few hours.

Somewhat—they won't say how—Mr. and Mrs. Hyndman were able to duplicate this messy infant mash. Did they hire an adult seagull to do the job? Chew up herrings and clams themselves?

I asked, but all I got was an enigmatic smile.

Itchy was reared in heated surroundings; was fed four times each night, three times a day. The Hyndmans live with birds and are full-time bird people. Nobody less dedicated would have had the patience for such a regimen.

Cecil Hyndman and gull friend.

Food isn't the only trouble about rearing a seagull. Seagulls have a way of swallowing anything that can wedge down their throats—knives, forks, golf balls. They have to be restrained from choking themselves or puncturing their own gullets.

They hate other birds, and they hate people. In the wild, they even hate their own brothers and sisters. Itchy had no brothers or sisters around. She radiated a kind of diffused, general malice toward all things around her.

Itchy seems to like Mr. Hyndman, but nobody else. Cecil Hyndman's gull friend comes on call without food, jumps on Mr. Hyndman's back or shoulder, goes into the house with him, and jumps on and off the furniture on command.

For some time Itchy and Mr. Hyndman played a kind of primitive ping pong, the bird hitting the ball back with her beak.

This game came to a halt when the gull swallowed the ball and nearly choked to death on it. Mr. Hyndman hasn't let her play since.

The most remarkable feature about the Hyndman system of bird training is the rapport that exists between the Hyndmans and the birds. The birds—and a few animals—do tricks without bribery.

"There isn't a direct individual reward for anything, ever. We just don't use that system. We don't feed them. People who know birds marvel at that fact, because usually hunger is the only thing that will work with birds.

"In the way we rear them, a certain terrific attachment has developed, and they are just waiting for us to call. It's intangible—it's more a case that they just want to do that when they're asked.

"This eagle, for example, plays ball with me because I make it a game of fun with her.

"The monkey—she isn't thirsty. But when I hand her a glass of water to drink, she drinks. The parrot has laughed 7,000 times on command when customers are there—but only for me.

"It's very seldom that this type of bird will perform definitely on command. The monkey always drinks. The parrot always laughs. There's no break at all. It's as solid as the circus."

Funeral Opens Campaign

TOKYO (AP) — The Socialist party and its left-wing allies today began a co-ordinated campaign to drive out Japan's government and discredit the new security treaty with the U.S.

With Premier Kishi on the way out and leaders of his party struggling to choose a new chief, the leftists outlined a tactical plan ranging from political manoeuvres to the familiar huge demonstrations.

Opening gun today was a "people's funeral" for Michiko Kameba, Tokyo University co-ed trampled to death June 15 in the leftist student charge on the Diet.

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The Congo's first independent government—led by Patrice Lumumba—won parliamentary approval today to take over from departing Belgian rulers Thursday.

In a cheering, tumultuous setting, Lumumba's government got 74 votes. Only one vote was against the bearded nationalist leader. Five members abstained and 57 were absent.

RIVAL WON OVER

Lumumba's backers include his old rival, Joseph Kasavubu, who was won over just before the cabinet list went to the Chamber of Deputies for a vote of confidence. Kasavubu has no portfolio in the new government but there has been speculation that he may be hoping to be elected chief of state.

VITAL CONTROL

Kasavubu's powerful Abako group controls the entire lower Congo.

Lumumba won Kasavubu's support after agreeing to include three Abako leaders in his cabinet, including Pascal Nkayi as finance minister.

LONG CONFUSION

The political situation had been confused for weeks because Lumumba and Kasavubu, the country's two strongest leaders, could not settle regional interests, a dispute over centralism versus federalism and bitter personal ambitions.

Senate Bill Demands Truth About Interest

OTTAWA — The Senate has approved a bill which would require money lenders and other credit companies to tell the truth about interest rates.

Senator David Croll (L., Ontario) said: "Let us be as zealous of safeguarding the people against any abuses in the extension of credit as our forefathers were in protecting society against horse thieves."

Bill provides fine of up to $500 plus loss of interest charges.

Price-Fixers To Lose Tariff Cover?

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet is considering the unprecedented step of removing tariff protection afforded to fine-paper companies convicted of operating a price-fixing combine, informed sources said yesterday.

Several companies were notified some time ago by Justice Minister Fulton to show cause why the government shouldn't take this action under the Combines Investigation Act.

SUBMISSION MADE

Informants said the companies have made their submission to the government and cabinet now has before it the question of removing or modifying the industry's tariff protection.

Any such move would have wide significance throughout Canadian industry since it has never been taken under special remedies in anti-combines legislation.

FIRST TO DIFFER

Meanwhile, the first retailers' association to take public exception to the government's proposed anti-combines amendments appealed Thursday to a Commons committee to throw out changes aimed at loss-leader selling.

The National Automotive Trades Association, representing service station dealers, said the change "will strike a mortal blow at the independence of distributors."

OPENING JULY 10 VICTORIA'S ONLY TUTORIAL SCHOOL

A NEW CONCEPT IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

The objective of Rockland School is to provide a sound "no-frills" education under a system of individual tuition.

The School curriculum will be offered through three programs:

1. A Summer School beginning July 20th, for Matriculation candidates preparing for supplemental examinations in August.
2. An Evening Division beginning September 10th, and offering a complete Matriculation course for students who have been away from school for some years.
3. Afternoon classes beginning September 10th providing extra tuition for Matric Students attending High School.

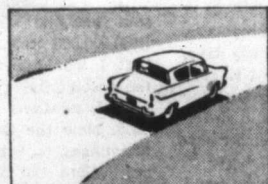

DURING THE SUMMER, FROM JULY 10th TO AUGUST 10th, A LIMITED NUMBER OF JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WILL BE ENROLLED FOR COACHING.

For the sheer joy of motoring PUT YOURSELF BEHIND THE WHEEL OF THE NEW ANGLIA 105E

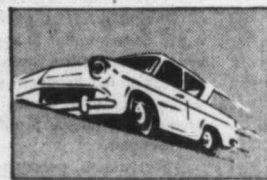

The agile Anglia 105E will cruise all day at highway speeds and always have plenty of reserve power for overtaking. Its sporty contoured seats are scientifically designed to reduce driving fatigue to an absolute minimum.

The agile Anglia 105E will nip in and out of city traffic like a cat among the pigeons. And its remarkable acceleration can get you away first from any stop light. (Zero to 60 in 26.9 seconds.)

The agile Anglia 105E has a turning circle of only 32 feet. Just think how this will help when you're parking in tight places. And no car can better the Anglia 105E's clear, all-round vision.

Hills? The agile Anglia 105E will take the longest and steepest in its stride. And if the roads are rough you'll scarcely know it—Anglia 105E's exclusive "glide-ride" suspension gives amazing stability.

Only the buyer of an all-new Anglia 105E can enjoy—at such a low price—such amazing power and performance. And this exciting new car has proven its ruggedness and reliability by placing first in its class in major motoring endurance events in Canada, Africa and Europe. What's more, the Anglia 105E won the British Automobile Manufacturers' Gold Medal for excellence of workmanship and design. Truly this is the success car of 1960. But the only way of really knowing all the quality and pleasure the Anglia 105E offers is to proof-drive it yourself. Any British Ford Line dealer (and there are hundreds of them right across Canada) will gladly let you take the wheel. And what better time to do it than today or this coming weekend!

Upset in Quebec

A REMARKABLE swing in the popular vote in the Province of Quebec has produced a result from the general election which is at the moment not too clear. Although on election-night results it would appear that Premier Antonio Barrette's Union Nationale party had been swept from office by the Liberal opposition, along with five cabinet ministers, some of the polls were so close that recounts may alter the standing either way. From the fact that about half of his supporting ministers went down to this initial defeat, the final counting of the ballots is more likely to favor the Liberals, as this was only one of several evidences of a decided swing in the political loyalties of the ancient province.

Never too closely allied with the Progressive Conservative party, the Union Nationale founded by the late Maurice Duplessis in 1936 had most often been anti-Liberal in its attitude towards federal affairs in Quebec. The deaths of Premier Duplessis, the energizing drive of the party, and in quick succession his chosen successor, left Premier Barrette with a politically difficult and factually hard course to steer in trying to arrest waning allegiance to the Union Nationale. The results of Wednesday's election strongly suggest that politically he has failed, and the Union Nationale may be on its way out of office for the present.

Premier Barrette at the moment is using all constitutional precedents in an effort to keep his party in office. He is being pressed by Mr. Lesage on behalf of the Liberals, seemingly in a hurry before the official tallies after final counts and recounts have been reported. The Liberal standing on election night, however, gave Mr. Lesage substantial ground for his claims. If the Liberals consolidate their slight over-all majority in the new legislature or increase it slightly on the recounts, on this reference they would be in. Nor does Premier Barrette seem in much better case respecting a repeated election, for with this start the Liberals would redouble their efforts.

From a federal standpoint what happened in Quebec is more ominous. Making due allowance for the distinction between provincial and federal elections, a sudden revival of the Liberals in Quebec after years of disfavor in the popular vote has been demonstrated. Whether or not this change in the tide will affect federal politics enough to embarrass Prime Minister Diefenbaker at the next election it is perhaps too early to predict; but Progressive Conservatives studying the results in Quebec now are confronted with some new and unexpected factors in the situation.

Strange Concept of Law

DR. GORDON SHRUM'S explanation of reasons for the extraordinary new British Columbia regulations with respect to dental technicians will satisfy few. Neither will this further attempt to put the blame partly on the dental profession for past and present irregularity in dealings between technicians and the public. The fact that the dentists' association did not always exercise its authority to prosecute under the section forbidding technicians to short-circuit the dentists is quite beside the point.

Dr. Shrum says in effect that unlawful practices which he acknowledges as having been carried on for about 15 years are unimportant because they are not criminal. That is a remarkable concept of law—in this instance a law of the Province of British Columbia. If it were to be accepted one would have to condone disobedience of many other laws intended for the protection of the public but which do not form part of the Criminal Code of Canada.

It does not matter whether this was a good law or a bad law. Nor does it matter that both of the dental technicians' associations in B.C. are in agreement with the new regulations. The fact is that an act of the legislature has been contravened over a long period and that the government and the board of which Dr. Shrum is chairman have been instrumental in extending discriminatory permission to a few technicians to go on doing something which has been unlawful up to now, while excluding from this privilege all those who have obeyed the law.

It may be true that the board had to deal with a difficult situation, affecting the livelihood of those who had been breaking the law. This, however, is a most peculiar solution—one not calculated to promote respect for the regulatory authority and laws of a provincial legislature.

Pushing or Pulling?

IN a continuing debate across the country the character of homes being built in Canada in response to the now waning housing pressure has come in for a considerable amount of adverse criticism. Professional architects in their associations and individually have been only too frank in their personal opinions as to what Canadians are accepting as permanent residences. Some of these objections appear to lose sight of conditions under which there has not been very much choice in the matter. Homes were needed in a hurry, and hurriedly were built. "Settlements" sprang up on vacant ground, as city populations multiplied. Costs have been phenomenal.

As professional men acquainted with what can be done with bricks and mortar, wood and its derivatives, and the latest in new building materials, the architects could make a substantial contribution to the nation from their knowledge if they would lay aside theoretical perfection and weigh the matter from the standpoint of what can be done practically. The most urgent need still seems to be some means of providing for dwelling seekers who cannot contemplate a $15,000 to $25,000 investment in a home from an economic standpoint, and who yet must find shelter of a durable nature within their means. Not the "low-cost housing" which obscures the purpose, but a home at modest price.

Interpreting the News

Disarmament Drifts

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE United States—with a gentle push by her allies—is about to offer some new proposals in an effort to keep Russia at the conference table at the 10-power East-West disarmament talks.

But well-informed authorities suggest these proposals, which may materialize in about a week, will in no sense be a drastic revision of the Western approach to the disarmament talks.

Nor would they involve any sacrifice of Western demands for rigid inspection and control of disarmament steps.

In essence they would be tid-bits, drawn from what the United States considers some of the elements of "common ground" detectable in the Russians' June 2 disarmament offer.

The "common ground" is seen in the way Russia seems to agree, at least in principle, on an international peace-keeping force. The Russians also have suggested a study of ways of halting production of fissionable materials for military uses.

But weighed against these features considered attractive by the United States and which may be emphasized in U.S. proposals, are features of Russian proposals considered repugnant by the West.

Included is the demand that U.S. vacate her European bases in 18 months.

The Geneva talks are almost at a stalemate. There are reports that Russia may leave the conference and take her proposals to the United Nations next fall. There is little hope in Washington that any realistic disarmament agreement can in fact be negotiated with the Reds.

In fact, the Washington mood is one of strengthening American military might rather than reducing it.

Canada and other Western members of the 10-power disarmament conference are anxious to show the world they are doing everything possible to work out an East-West disarmament agreement.

Recent U.S. diplomatic reverses could be made worse if the U.S. left unchallenged any new Soviet charges that the U.S. doesn't really want disarmament.

Report from U.N.

Behind in Their Dues

By PETER COUROPOULOS

ONE of the West's pet projects, the expanded technical assistance program, seems to be losing its attraction for some governments. This will be one of the subjects for discussion at the coming meetings of the Technical Assistance Committee, starting June 27 at the Palais des Nations, in Geneva.

The conferees will take a close look at the reasons behind the increasing amount of dues in arrears to the expanded program, the operation of which dates from 1949.

Its primary objective is to help under-developed countries "to strengthen their national economies through the development of their industries and agriculture, with a view to promoting their economic and political independence," and "to ensure the attainment of higher levels of economic and social welfare for their entire populations."

It was founded in response to demands from under-developed countries for international co-operation regarding their economic development and it is financed from voluntary contributions by member states.

Actually, more than $4,000,000 remain unpaid over the last six years. This is one-eighth of this year's annual budget of the program, which amounts to $32,350,370 only.

The conferees will consider ways and means to increase the interest of the various participating governments to the project and overcome the apparent indifference.

The expanded program does not provide for the actual industrial development of the countries needing it, but only for relevant technical know-how under three major forms:

(1) Technical experts, sent out at the request of under-developed countries, to advise governments and train local staff in a wide variety of economic development fields.

(2) Fellowships or scholarships granted for study of modern methods abroad.

(3) The organization of training centres and seminars on a regional basis to enable experts of several countries to exchange ideas and experience in particular technical fields.

Up to now, a great number of governments have asked and received the services offered. An average of $30,000,000 was spent annually since 1951 to give technical assistance. More than double this amount has been spent by the recipient countries themselves to prepare the ground for, and to follow up, the work of international aid teams.

Evidently, without sustained interest on the part of member states the program cannot operate efficiently. In the words of the report to be considered at the coming Geneva meetings "the possibility was not excluded that in some cases the existence of long standing arrears might be taken by TAC as a symptom of lack of government interest in the expanded program."

"The problem is the more serious," the report continues, "because it exists at a time when the demand for assistance from our limited resources has reached an all-time peak."

Canada with a $2,000,000 contribution last year is one of the 15 countries that have fulfilled their pledges to the program. But there are 71 other governments that are still in arrears.

This apparent lack of enthusiasm is all the more important these days, as the developments at the UN may well lead to renewed discussions for general schemes of economic development. Such schemes would far surpass the strictly educational scope of the technical assistance projects and would tackle the all-round economic problem of world development itself.

Many underdeveloped countries seem to be interested in such an approach the foremost champion for which is the government of India.

Obviously, if a general plan for world development is approved at the next session of the General Assembly, the expanded program would lose its uniqueness and would be incorporated in the larger project as one of its features.

Nevertheless, decisions of that sort are not taken up so easily, and the struggle between these favoring partial projects and the ones who are for an integrated approach on world development will last for some time.

The fact that more and more underdeveloped nations come into the UN, and the increasing pressure they exercise for an agreement on disarmament, will apparently lead some day to a general plan for world development. For the immediate future, though, the present schemes for partial assistance will continue to operate.

High UN officers have already used the occasion of inspection trips to work with the governments concerned in an attempt to find mutually acceptable arrangements for liquidation of the arrears.

Indications are now available, according to the report for consideration by the technical assistance committee, that "these intensified efforts are bearing fruit."

Eisenhower's Personal Tragedy

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

THERE is a great deal of sympathy for President Eisenhower in London. There is also a certain amount of apprehension and quite a lot of criticism.

The personal tragedy of General Eisenhower has been likened to a great Greek tragedy. No one denies his sincerity, no one challenges his intent and no one disputes that his great motive was to vacate the presidency leaving the world a little happier than he found it, and that he would be remembered as a great general in war who laid the foundations of a great peace.

The dreams have been shattered. He has been left on an empty stage snubbed, insulted and denigrated before the world and the mocking laughter of the Russian chorus off stage. Very few people in London are unmoved and some are overwhelmed by the impact.

In the British foreign office, where Mr. Macmillan's tradition of unflappability has become deeply entrenched, they are taking things calmly enough but there is some criticism about American diplomatic immaturity, of wishful thinking and insensitivity—but nothing but profound sympathy for the personal tragedy of the president. The main concern is what is to happen for the personal tragedy of the president. The main concern is what is to happen to the Western world during the next seven months, at the end of which a new president of the United States will have to start picking up the shattered loving cup of peace and try to put it together again.

The broad assessment is that diplomatic initiative has passed to the Soviet bloc and the fear is that they will try to drive home the advantage.

There are two points of view. One is that Russia will try to play merry hell in the belief that the United States is diplomatically impotent after being insulted by enemies and reviled by Japanese friends, and that an effort will be made to widen the crack these events have caused in the Western alliance and in American influence.

The other view, which seems to be more widely held, is that Russia will again display her masterly ability for timing and that things will go reasonably quietly until there is a new president. One reason is that Russia needs time to try to compose her differences with China, which are regarded in London as being more real than many people suppose, and the other is that Mr. Khrushchev is more likely to be able to wring new concessions from a new president.

Psychologically it seems inevitable that a new president will want to compose as many differences as possible with Russia if for no other reason than to show he is a better man than Mr. Eisenhower. He will start operations with an overwhelming disadvantage but with one great truth to help him—the shattered illusion that the United States is universally loved or feared and that there is nothing that a few well directed dollars cannot put right. Rightly or wrongly it is assumed that the state department has always based its diplomacy on the belief that America is loved by her friends and feared by her enemies.

Demands on Ottawa

The Greedy Provinces

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

LIVING up to the advance billing given his act by The Toronto Globe and Mail, the premier of Ontario has made public his attitude towards the forthcoming federal-provincial conference on fiscal relations. Mr. Frost has long been dissatisfied with his province's share of tax revenues; and with each year that passes with his claims unsatisfied his demands grow larger and larger. He started, in February, 1958, by asking for $100,000,000 more than he was getting through the tax agreements; this extra money, he said, was urgently needed by Ontario.

In February, 1959, Mr. Frost said that he still planned to get $100,000,000 from Ottawa "and to that I would add the difference in the cost of living" since federal provincial relations were reviewed in 1958. Now the Ontario Premier has announced that he is seeking more than the $100,000,000 he previously has asked for. "We want a lot more," he said. And a Toronto newspaper says that in an interview Mr. Frost indicated that he wants to scrap the tax rental agreements so that Ontario can go ahead and collect its own taxes.

Scrapping tax rental agreements would mean that the less-favored would suffer financially as Ontario benefited. The profits from money spent on goods and services in the less-favored provinces cannot be taxed in these provinces. They flow to Mr. Frost's province where the head offices of the large corporations are located. With no tax-rental agreement, Mr. Frost would be free to tax these profits and keep all the proceeds—even though a large part of the profits was not made in Ontario.

Mr. Frost will not be the only premier demanding more money for a rich province. Last November Mr. Bennett of British Columbia demanded what he called "a genuine tax rental agreement." This would return the same percentage of taxes to all provinces; and where less favored provinces needed additional money, Mr. Bennett would favor the granting of extra assistance over and above the tax-rental agreements. In other words, like Ontario, British Columbia would charitably agree to the handing out of a little largesse to provinces which could prove their need.

But that is not the principle behind the tax-sharing arrangements and the equalization payments to the less favored provinces. The equalization payments to which Ontario and B.C. object are not a matter of charity but a matter of right. They are the means of making sure that the less-favored provinces get the money that is rightly theirs. It is inconceivable that the federal government will pay any attention to the greedy demands of Ontario and British Columbia. But the other provinces have at least been warned as to what they will face when they go to Ottawa next month.

British Vitality

(From The Ottawa Journal)

PRINCE PHILIP is clearly a man who believes that his 'public speeches should be something more than decorative. When he speaks he says something. Not all men do. Consider what Prince Philip said in New York when he opened his country's trade fair:

"Britain is not just an old country of tottering ruins . . . Don't be misled by what looks like old-fashioned pomp and pageantry . . . Remember that (Englishmen) started the Industrial Revolution. It is true, of course, that the plumbing in some of our older houses is not all that it might be, but that doesn't alter the fact that three out of every five gas turbines flying or on order in the entire Western world are British, or that one-third of the world's merchant tonnage is equipped with British radar."

The trade fair itself is evidence of British vitality. It is the biggest fair of any kind which a foreign nation has staged in the United States. The Duke of Edinburgh's visit to the fair was not all frivolity. He and the fair made a point which Americans will respect.

From the Scriptures

Blessed are those servants whom the Lord when he cometh shall find watching.—St. Luke, 12:37.

Some of our experts believe that the United States will be more willing to listen to the more experienced foreign office know-how than it has been in the past; that there may be a little soul searching and possibly a recognition that things should have been handled differently. The double affront to American dignity may, in the end, prove a blessing in disguise.

It is suggested that President Eisenhower attempted to do too much in too little time, that the enigmatic Mr. Dulles cast his brother's shadow across the administration by his ill-founded enthusiasm, and that American diplomats have been inclined to color their despatches with things the president would like to think rather than what was really happening. This may be British prejudice, but there is considerable evidence of American insensitivity to national reactions.

At the same time no one appears to think that any lasting damage has been done to the Western alliance. Indeed it seems to be argued that it has actually been strengthened by events, that we are dealing with a more realistic America stripped of many sentimental illusions.

There is no doubt here that if Mr. Khrushchev tries to be extra tough the United States will dig her heels in and be less compromising than ever before, and that the Russians know this and are unlikely to try it on. Humiliation has its limits, and to that extent there is strength in the apparent weakness of events.

The main criticism in Britain is that the United States must curb its desire to be loved and its propensity for an arrogant display of power. Flushed with material success she has displayed some of the naïveté of the new rich after the war. The criticism is not meant unkindly — indeed it comes with humility from a nation still finding it difficult to realize that she is no longer top dog and feeling also that perhaps she has a little more to contribute than is always appreciated by the state department.

For President Eisenhower there is nothing but sympathy for a man who over-reached himself in an attempt to attain the impossible and would be content with nothing less. He travelled the well worn road of good intentions and finished in the hell of disillusion. Even so he has achieved much and there is plenty of evidence that things are far from happy within the Soviet bloc though we hear a great deal less about it.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

DEPARTMENT stores invite the non-shopper to make himself at home and wander freely about the place. Most of the big stores attempt to compile statistics on the proportion of mere sight-seers among the hordes that invade their premises daily. Almost everybody downtown quite commonly uses department stores as short cuts across city blocks, especially on rainy days.

But few other shops will put up with non-buying idlers; or if they do, it is with bad grace. In ninety-nine stores out of a hundred, the clerks and salesmen come at you promptly in a spirit of challenge to enquire, even to demand, what you want.

Unique among all shops are those dealing in fishing tackle and guns. Most fishing tackle dealers are obviously a little astonished when one of the visitors actually requires to be waited on. Gun shops and fishing tackle stores are in the nature of clubs or rendezvous where the brethren meet, at any or all hours of the day. It is a place to dawdle and dream. Not only are you not requested to buy, you are not even expected to buy. Of course, at this season of the year there are quite a number actually buying. But if you study the crowd in the store, you will perceive they are the minority. The rest have bought, will buy, some day. But at the moment they are just inhaling the savor of the place, and welcome.

A Big 'If'

If Woodward Stores had been truly assisted in the purchase of a site for a downtown location they would not now be planning for a suburban retail centre, and further, I do not believe that a large company like Woodward's would stoop to sidetrack the building of a mall in Victoria by making late or false announcements now, or at any other time of their intentions to build here.

If the city or Victoria had seriously wanted a Woodward store, it should have offered to make up the difference in what some property owners asked and what Woodward were willing to pay for said properties; and if the city could not procure this necessary amount, they could have offered to waive the taxes which would have to be paid by Woodward to the extent of that amount, and which Woodward could have advanced.

If the foregoing plan had been adopted Victoria could have disposed of the present city hall and replaced it with a new and modern building; and there would not have been the long list of unemployed men in the building trades in Victoria.

Rodeos Still Opposed

The Colonist of June 16 carried a story that one of the directors of the Vancouver branch of the B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals felt that the publicity given to the proposal to stage a rodeo as part of the Pacific National Exhibition would help to ensure the success of the rodeo. This story has alarmed many people who misinterpreted its origin.

I want to assure these people that Mr. Burns, while perfectly entitled to his own opinion, was not speaking for the society or the Vancouver branch. Furthermore, I want to assure you that the policy of the society has not been changed in any way and that we will continue to oppose the rodeo by any means which are legal and reasonable, including publicity.

Parking Solution

In France they have a parking regulation that would help merchants here. In Albert, Arras, Amiens and Valenciennes on one day the cars all park on the left side of the streets; the next day they park on the right. This system gives the merchants an even break, and there is no confusion.

Is War Inevitable? Russia, China Differ

BUCHAREST (Reuters) — A rift has appeared in the ranks of world Communism with Russia and China differing publicly over the correct Communist attitude toward the West.

Publication of a speech Wednesday by China's Peng Chen to the Romanian party congress showed he took a different line from a declaration by Russian Premier Khrushchev the day before.

The opposing lines, which have appeared in publications of both countries in recent weeks, centre around the Leninist theory that war between Communism and capitalism is inevitable.

The Chinese agree that war with the capitalist countries is inevitable. But Khrushchev declared Tuesday that "under the present conditions war is not inevitable."

Peng, a member of China's ruling political bureau, said the nature of capitalist society will not alter and indicated it is useless for the Communist bloc to try to get along with the West.

Leaders of East European Communist parties, fell into line with Khrushchev. Peng declared the only way to prevent war was to reinforce strength of the bloc.

He said reinforcement of Communist unity was "a sacred duty" and proposed union of "all world forces capable of forming a united front against imperialism."

Keep Khrushchev Out of Campaign

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (UPI) — Adlai Stevenson last night accused Republicans of "cheap charges of appeasement" and called for wide-open debate on U.S. foreign policy in the presidential campaign.

The former Democratic presidential candidate, still considered a dark-horse bet for a third selection, called on both parties to quit debating which side Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants to win in November.

"Khrushchev's aim is American weakness and disunity," Stevenson said. "So I suggest that both presidential candidates this year pledge themselves in advance of the campaign to keep Mr. Khrushchev out of the national debate."

One unpleasant view of the new Japanese-American peace treaty is that the political life of Premier Kishi was offered up on a sacrificial altar in Tokyo while President Eisenhower played golf in Honolulu.

A strange aspect of the recent series of setbacks to U.S. foreign policy is the apparently undimmed cheerfulness of Eisenhower, who acts as though he was insulated from world affairs.

One highly-experienced U.S. columnist accompanying the presidential party on the Far East tour said it appeared from the all-for-the-best attitude in the president's immediate entourage that Eisenhower was hardly aware of the dangerous situation stirred in Tokyo by the prospect of his visit.

In other circles it was freely predicted that Kishi's capitulation would amount to political har-kiri, a domestic disaster in which the prestige of Eisenhower and the U.S. was inevitably involved.

Now that the treaty has been signed—the final formalities being conducted in an almost surreptitious manner—people are wondering how effective can be a pact which aroused animosity sufficient to bring down its chief architect on the Japanese side.

The U.S. state department kept insisting that the Japanese opposition to Eisenhower's visit came from a small section of the people. It stuck to that convention even when the president's advance emissary, James Hagerty, had to be plucked by helicopter from amid thousands of demonstrators.

While blandly admitting a mistake in its earlier estimate, the state department now is arguing with equal aplomb that opposition to the treaty

Instead of looking for excuses, Stevenson said, the U.S. should be asking itself such questions as "why didn't we foresee the consequences of the U-2 incident in Japan?" and "how did things get so mixed up that the natural anti-war feeling of so many people expresses itself in anti-Americanism?"

"Our elections have always been our own business. Let's keep them that way," Stevenson said Sen. John Kennedy was urged on the Senate floor to "relieve himself of the suspicion of appeasement" for echoing Stevenson's criticism of the U-2 incident. Vice-President Nixon charged that Stevenson spread "pro-Communist propaganda" for calling attention to Soviet economic growth.

"The real damage, of course, has been done by those who preferred to score partisan points rather than face up to the fact of Soviet growth, and thrust," Stevenson said.

Peace Probe Decides:

Power Pool the Answer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Firm hydro-electric energy in the Pacific Northwest could be increased by more than 1,000,000 kilowatts if the Peace and Columbia Rivers and major developments in the U.S. north-west were tied into an international power pool, an engineering report disclosed Thursday.

Provincial negotiators have claimed a High Arrow dam is day.

Such a pool, the report said, would have an initial capacity of 31,755,000 kilowatts.

The report, prepared for the Peace River Power Development Co., also said construction of a dam on the High Arrow Lakes would be faster, more economical and bring a greater return than one at Mica Creek in the proposed Columbia development.

A host of facts, calculations and forecasts are included in the special report prepared at a cost of more than $100,000 by British engineer Ralph Chantrell and U.S. engineer Jack Stevens.

The report says that by 1977, the power pool would have three 500,000-volt transmission lines running south from the Peace River.

7 Have Own Language

Sophisticated Sonar

Has Man Met His Peer in Dolphin?

WASHINGTON (CP)—Recent research indicates a scientist says that dolphins "are at least equal of, if not superior to, man in brain power."

Dr. John C. Lilly, of the communications research institute at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, has been exploring the intelligence of dolphins—also known as porpoises in conjunction with the U.S. Navy.

Lilly told a press conference here Monday that the dolphin's brain has as many cells per unit area as a man's.

Whether that means dolphins are at least as intelligent as man, Lilly's not yet prepared to say—principally for lack of common ground by which to compare the IQs of man and dolphin.

Dolphins not only indicate that they have a language for communicating with one another, but they also mimic human voice sounds at times, Lilly says.

He says the dolphin accurately imitated him saying, "three—twenty—three."

Dolphins have developed a far fancier and more exact sonar system—for detecting and recognizing other objects—than man has developed with all his electronic aids.

"Here's an alien species," Lilly said, "having at least the potential of being our equal in intelligence."

"Our work with them may give us a kindergarten course in how to deal with extraterrestrial beings, if there are any. The dolphins themselves might be classed as nonterrestrial beings, and we haven't yet learned to deal with them."

Help in Doubt

Nazis Plead Civil Liberty

NEW YORK (UPI)—George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, asked the New York Civil Liberties Union Thursday to help him fight Mayor Robert Wagner's ban on a Nazi rally in Union Square July 4.

Wagner banned the Nazi demonstration after Rockwell's appearance at a state supreme court hearing Wednesday caused a near riot. Two state legislators had petitioned the court to bar the demonstration after park commissioner Newbold Morris said he was of the opinion that all political groups were entitled to free speech and assembly.

Sewer Sage

LONDON (UPI)—The Institute of Sewage Purification awarded the Fowler-Ardern-Lockett Prize to J. H. Edmondson for the most outstanding contribution to literature for his writings on the activated sludge process.

Lifesaving Movie Available

The B.C. department of recreation and conservation announced yesterday a movie on the techniques of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration is available to organizations in the province.

"That They May Live," produced by the University of Saskatchewan medical school, has been widely-acclaimed by safety officials.

Help For Cars?

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is moving to ward higher tariffs on imported cars as a measure of help to Canada's sagging automobile industry, informed sources have indicated.

Sources said there is no chance this year of the government acting on industry requests that tariff rates be boosted and sales taxes be reduced.

Discounts given Canadian dealers on quantity purchases of imported cars may be reduced instead.

The effect on consumer prices of imported cars might be a slight increase unless Canadian distributors of imports were willing to absorb the extra costs involved in higher excise and sales tax payments and, in the case of European imports, of higher duty payments.

Museum to Probe Coast For Archaeological Sites

A permit covering an archaeological site survey along the east coast of Vancouver Island north of Nanaimo and the adjacent mainland coast has been issued by the provincial secretary to the National Museum of Canada.

The survey will be conducted by Miss Katherine Copes of the museum's human history branch.

Object of the survey is to seek sites of scientific value for future excavation.

A second permit under the Archaeological and Historic Sites Protection Act has been issued to Charles E. Borden, to excavate and make studies at an ancient Indian site near Yale in the Fraser Valley.

The project, being undertaken by the UBC department of anthropology and sociology, is financed jointly by UBC, the National Museum and the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was urged Thursday by a supporter to do something financially for Canada's student nurses who spend "three years of near-slavery."

"That's a harsh word," F. J. Bigg (PC, Athabasca) told the Commons, "but I can't think of anything else."

As the father of a student nurse who has just been graduated, the Alberta MP said, he felt impelled to speak up for a group who lack a voice. Some student nurses could be expelled for requesting a little pocket money and he believes $12 a month is the highest pay given before graduation.

EX-MOUNTIE

That might have been enough in the days when the RCMP rode the plains for 50 cents a day, said Mr. Bigg, a former Mountie.

Ottawa helped the hard-pressed hospitals financially and it seemed proper to earmark some of the money for student nurses.

Perhaps they could get $12 a month for the first six months and then at least $1 a day for pocket money. The second year might pay $45 a month and the third year $2 a day.

The result of three years without pay is that nurses on graduation rush off into marriage, to the United States or give up the profession altogether, he said.

Wenner-Gren Defying Law? Gregory Urges Investigation

B.C. Liberal House leader George Gregory has urged an immediate probe by the attorney-general of a CCF charge that Wenner-Gren rail interests may attempt to defy the Public Utilities Act with the blessing of the government.

He was referring to the contents of a letter written by Opposition leader Robert Strachan to Dr. H. F. Angus, chairman of the commission. The letter was made public by Mr. Strachan yesterday.

The letter says that "since the announced postponement of the Wenner-Gren railway hearings the premier has inferred that the company will defy the Public Utilities Act and commence construction before requesting a certificate of public convenience and necessity."

ABOVE LAW?

"This, of course, means that this Wenner-Gren company considers itself above the law and the premier's statement indicates that the government will condone their actions."

The letter said plans to get construction of the Pacific Northern Railway started before June 30 in compliance with an agreement with the government by means of the Railway Act constitutes a "red herring."

He said the provisions of the Railway Act do not relieve the railway company of the requirement to comply with the Public Utilities Act.

Mr. Gregory said yesterday.

Market Problem

Berry Harvest Better on Island

An increase is predicted in this season's strawberry and loganberry crops on Vancouver Island.

Monthly estimate of the Agriculture Department's horticultural branch envisions a crop of 1,100,000 pounds of strawberries and 1,275,000 pounds of loganberries this year, as compared with 1,041,000 pounds of strawberries and 1,192,000 pounds of loganberries last year.

NOT SO ROSY

But the picture isn't as rosy as it would appear, claims Herbert Bickford, president of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, which produces 95 per cent of the Island's small fruit.

There are more berries this year because of better weather and increased acreage, he said. "This is fine, so far as strawberries are concerned. We could sell twice as many if we had them. But there is a limited market for loganberries and we're faced with overproduction. We'll get rid of them this year, but we have to find a new market."

The strawberry season is at its peak and the loganberry season starts in about two weeks. These two berries comprise by far the largest portion of the Island's entire fruit crop.

The Island's cherry crop, the bulk of which will be picked late in July, is expected to be only 27,000 pounds as compared with 36,000 pounds last year.

PIGEON PROBLEM

This is because hand-tailed pigeons stripped most of the green cherries from the orchards, said Mr. Bickford.

Apples, third largest Vancouver Island fruit crop, will be only 690,000 pounds this year, the branch says. Last year's crop was 656,000 pounds.

He told the 13th annual conference of area 13, National Office Management Association, doctors confronted by a compulsory medical care plan in Saskatchewan are good examples.

"If the doctors had taken an active part in politics in the past, they might not find themselves in the position of fighting a defensive action in a climate of opinion which views them merely as another group with self-interest to protect."

CALGARY (CP) — Office managers were told Thursday that most businessmen don't care about politics until the government steps on their own toes. Then it is too late.

"There is no reaction from the business community when it comes to matters of democratic principle," said Andrew Snaddon, associate editor of the Calgary Herald. "But let the province or the city play about with the business tax and there is a horrible row."

Canada Space Leader?

PENTICTON (CP) — Canadian-designed instruments now measuring cosmic radio noises in outer space may vault this country into the forefront of space technology.

The instruments are only being tested, but the venture is a distinct new achievement for Canadian research.

This was the view of scientists attending a two-day astrophysical conference at nearby White Lake Observatory, site of Canada's largest radio telescope, officially opened Monday by Mines Minister Comtois.

Donald Hasen, radar installations director at Prince Albert, Sask., said the instrumented satellite launched as part of a doubleheader American rocket Wednesday is a preliminary experiment to make measurements before a main Canadian satellite is launched in 1962.

Merchants Move to New Centre

There's an old world air about the new Ross Bay Shopping Centre.

Set amid the trees and lawns of the Fairfield Road district the new centre features all the conveniences of modern shopping with an intimate "corner store" touch.

Typical of the small merchants in the new centre at Fairfield Road and St. Charles Street is Norwegian-born Conrad Johansen and his wife, Solvaig, who have opened their first flower shop.

"The Flower Basket" is their first venture in retail business since coming to Victoria nine years ago and Conrad says it provides a good outlet for his thriving greenhouse on Kinross Street.

First to arrive on the new site was the Safeway supermarket which opened over a year ago and the shift in customers from the district's smaller stores to the "mart" prompted them to apply for space in the lot.

A good illustration of this is master shoemaker, Wilhelm Pruim, from Holland who, with his wife, Toni, moved to the centre from the old Hollywood Shoe Repair, two blocks away.

TRADE SCHOOL

Wilhelm attended trade school to become a shoemaker in Holland and worked there for some time before coming to Canada in 1954.

After a year in Nova Scotia where he took a job on a Metchoin poultry farm to fill in "until I could go back to my old trade."

Easy, convenient banking will be provided at the new shopping centre by a new branch of the Toronto Dominion bank that has hardly inked a blotter yet.

For those who yearn for a bit of old world eating there is the, soon to be opened, "Seaway Fish and Chip Shop" which will serve the tasty dish every bit as well as in London although the servings won't be wrapped in the Daily Mirror.

LAUNDERETTE

One of the most convenient features is a self-serve laundrette with the most modern equipment for washing and drying clothes in the city.

Automatic dispensers serve just the right amount of detergent and once the wash is there is time for a relaxing bit of conversation with the neighbors.

Barber shop and women's hairdresser are next door and "Anthony" will be more than glad to give Madame's hairdo a flip while she is waiting for her wash.

HARDWARE

Hardware is the responsibility and pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hames at Ross Bay Hardware in the middle of the shopping centre and the cool, inviting display is a real pleasure to roam around in on a hot day.

Dave owned a domestic appliance store in Regina before coming to the coast and put in a stint with the Dominion Hydrographic Surveys on board the William J. Stewart before deciding that the new centre was too good an opportunity to be missed.

Braves, Giants Set Up Two-Team Flag Chase

Milwaukee Braves and San Francisco Giants have been combining during the past two weeks to make the National League pennant chase a two-team affair.

The Braves rolled up their sixth straight win, and their ninth in 10 games, yesterday to complete a four-game sweep over the Giants, who have lost five in a row and nine of their last 11.

Result has the Braves firmly in second place, only two and a half games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Team	W	L	Pct	GB
Pittsburgh	30	22	.577	0
Milwaukee	28	24	.538	2 1/2
San Francisco	27	25	.519	3 1/2
Cincinnati	26	26	.500	4 1/2
St. Louis	25	27	.476	5 1/2
Los Angeles	24	28	.462	6 1/2
Philadelphia	23	29	.442	7 1/2
Chicago	22	30	.424	8 1/2

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit	29	23	.558	6
Washington	28	24	.538	7
Kansas City	27	25	.519	8
Boston	26	26	.500	9

burgh Pirates, while the Giants, no longer looking like pennant threats, are four games further back.

Eddie Mathews' two two-run homers—the 35th time he has hit two four-basers in one game—and four errors by the faltering Giants combined for yesterday's 7-4 victory.

Warren Spahn, now 5-4 this season, lasted the nine innings for the 27th win of his lengthy major league career.

The Pirates ran afoul of teammate Ron Kline, who held them to five hits as St. Louis Cardinals edged out an old teammate, Harvey Haddix, 3-1.

Two unearned runs in the seventh inning gave the Cards what was only their second win in the last eight games.

Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians closed in on the New York Yankees in the tight American League race.

DO IT AGAIN
Don Mossi and Charley Maxwell, a couple of old jinxes, ended the Yankee win streak at six games. Mossi subdued the Stengelmans, 2-1, while Maxwell clouted Rhyne Duran's second pitch for a ninth.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Ingemar Johansson should not be the next man to get a chance to win the world heavyweight boxing championship, but not for the reason advanced by the National Boxing Association.

The NBC has been reported as opposed to a third matching on the grounds that Patterson has so definitely proven his superiority that Johansson doesn't deserve to regain the title he held for less than a year.

Later events could prove the NBC contention correct, but it is not more than assumption and not the reason Johansson should be denied the chance of a return bout should he wish it. After all, Patterson got his chance after being knocked out in the third round under pre-arranged agreement for a return match. Johansson's exit in the fifth round Monday sort of evened it up.

However, if boxing was run the way it should be, champions would not be permitted to wrest agreements from challengers guaranteeing a return bout if the championship should change hands. The deposed champion should be forced to fight the official No. 1 contender with the winner of that bout to get the next title chance.

The way it is now, it could be two years before Sonny Liston, if he ever does, gets his chance. Patterson says he has promised Ingo a return go and is willing to make good the promise, and Ingo says he wants the chance. But now it is being pointed out that the income tax bite would mean neither would benefit from another fight before next year. That could mean it will be next June before the third Patterson-Johansson fight will be held and with each fighter likely to earn even more than he did Monday, it could be June, 1962, before the next heavyweight title fight would be held. And if that third fight should prove to be exceptional, who knows but what there wouldn't be a fourth. This thing could go on ad infinitum.

Would Johansson have a chance in the third fight? The answer would have to be yes and if you take in the fight pictures, which start today at the Capitol Theatre, you'll see why. The ex-champion really has an exceptional right-hand punch, which you will see early in the second round. It is straight, extremely fast and, as he has proven, powerful. It needs only to land properly once.

On that basis, Johansson certainly could win the third fight but the odds would be stacked heavily against him. If the ex-champion had more than that big punch—it was not evident Monday night. His left is hardly more than a minor nuisance, he is at a disadvantage on the inside and it most definitely seemed that he doesn't at all relish being hit. Most good fighters will flurry back when hit but I can not recall Johansson once doing this. And, as someone else has pointed out, he got up only once while Patterson climbed to his feet six times. This, of course, could mean that Patterson hits harder. And it could also mean something else.

But the big difference in the first and second fights was the difference in Patterson. Johansson just wasn't facing the same man the second time—and it isn't likely he'll ever see the 1959 Patterson again.

Patterson, who had never looked bigger than a well-built light-heavy, had put eight pounds on in the right places and for the first time looked like a bona-fide heavyweight physically. More important, he was a resentful, determined young man whose pride had been badly hurt and who was out to get it repaired. He was at his peak mentally and physically to make maximum use of his considerable talents.

He carried the fight to Johansson from the start, keeping the Göteborg gunner puzzled and backing away with an ever-varying attack which featured devastating combinations from perhaps the fastest paf of hands in boxing.

Against this, Johansson had only that big right. He constantly tried to manoeuvre to give it his chance, got it in the second round, and then flubbed it. Patterson was hurt and for a second or two, one couldn't help but think this was going to be a repeat. But Patterson was to prove that he can take a punch and Johansson to indicate that a couple of first-round belts had made him cautious. There was never a doubt after Patterson came out in the third round and regained complete control. He looked good enough Monday to just about end any doubts about his ability.

He Makes His Own

Hard at work making arrows in his home workshop at 316 Brunswick Place is Frank Jones, star archer of the Victoria Bowmen. Tribute to his skill lies in his performance. During club shooting he recently shot 744 out of a possible 810, highest ever shot by a club member and unofficially breaking the Canadian record of 732 for an American round. During the same week he shot 732 in a mail match to tie his own Canadian record. (Colonist photo.)

Eves, Jerome and Tobacco—Officials Plan 'Dream 220'

Terry Tobacco is in town, and officials of the Vancouver Island track and field championships plan to ask him for a favor that could lead to a new Canadian 220 record tomorrow night at Victoria High School's cinder track.

Also entered is George Short of Saskatoon, who outraced Eves in Saskatoon last summer.

PLENTY OF TALENT
However, the above are only four of a long list of Canadian track and field stars that could set a few Canadian records tomorrow night given the proper weather conditions.

For instance, there is Jerome's sister Valerie, who holds the meet high jump and broad jump records and will also enter the women's 100-yard sprint.

Other women's sprint stars appearing include Vancouver's Kathy Chubb, Heather Campbell and Freyda Berman. Miss Berman, a crowd favorite here two years ago, holds the B.C. native record of 10.9 for the 100, set at this meet.

Miss Berman will be running her first race since 1958, when she injured her leg in the British Empire Games at Cardiff. Vancouver coaches believe she is ready for her comeback although her recent times are not of record caliber.

The men's half mile will pit Al Andrews of Vancouver against clubmate Don Bertola. Andrews recently beat Bertola by a tenth of a second in 1:52.1 in a race at Vancouver. Sig Ohlman of Vancouver is also entered and has run the distance in 1:51.3 for University of Oregon. Joe Mullins' Canadian Native record is 1:51.8.

Saturday's meet starts at 7 p.m.

England at 114 For Two Wickets

LONDON (Reuters)—England won the toss and batted first on the first day of the second cricket test match against South Africa Thursday. With more than three hours of play lost because of bad light, rain and thunderstorms, England had 114 runs for the loss of two wickets by the close.

England won the first match of the five-test series.

The day's best performance was a 56 by Ted Dexter who helped R. Subba Row put on 96 for the second wicket after Colin Cowdrey had been caught for 7. Subba Row was 36 not out.

South African bowler Geoff Griffin was called by the umpire for five no-balls. Griffin has been no-balled 22 times during the Springboks' current tour and he is the first player to be called for the offence in a test match in England.

Previously, only two players had been no-balled for throwing in test matches. In 1898, Australia's Ernest Jones was called in a test match at Melbourne against England and in 1954 Tony Lock of England was no-balled in the first test against West Indies at Jamaica.

Ex-Champions Meet In Ladies' Golf Final

Two former champions, one from Vancouver and the other from Victoria, tee off at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. today at Uplands Golf Club in a 36-hole battle for the women's B.C. Close golf championship.

Colleen Smith of Vancouver and Mrs. Dorothy Herbertson DeGiroloamo of Gorge Vale Golf Club swept into the final yesterday.

Miss Smith, who won the title in 1956, defeated medalist and city champion Shirley Naysmith, 4 and 2, but it took an extra hole for Mrs. DeGiroloamo to edge Margaret Todd of Victoria and qualify for a shot at her third Close title.

It, too, was a fight between former champions. Mrs. Todd, runner-up for three years previous, took the title in 1947-48, 49, while Mrs. DeGiroloamo won it in 1954 and 1955.

CATCHES UP

Starting quickly, Mrs. DeGiroloamo went two up with pars on the second and third holes. The next two holes were halved, and Mrs. Todd scrapped back to square the match with pars on the sixth and 7th, then went one up with a par three on the 206-yard ninth. Her medal score for the first nine was a two-over-par 41.

Mrs. DeGiroloamo, who beat Mrs. Todd in the semi-finals of the city championship only to lose to Mrs. Naysmith, won the 10th with a par to square the match again. The next three holes were halved in pars, but Mrs. Todd regained the lead with a bogey five on the 445-yard 14th when Mrs. DeGiroloamo three-putted for a six.

They halved the 15th in par and the 16th with bogey fours, but Mrs. DeGiroloamo shot a birdie three on the 270-yard 17th to tie again, and the 18th was halved.

On the 19th, 439 yards, Mrs. DeGiroloamo came through with a birdie four to win the right to meet Miss Smith.

BIG START

Meanwhile, the Vancouver shotmaker shot a par 39 on the first nine and was three up on Mrs. Naysmith at the turn, winning the first three holes with a birdie and two pars and the ninth with a birdie two. Mrs. Naysmith won the seventh with a birdie five. Mrs. Naysmith won the 10th with a par four to cut the margin to two holes but Miss Smith won the 12th with a par five. The next three holes were halved in par, and Miss Smith won it on the 16th with a par three.

RESULTS

Consolation flight—Miss S. Foulds defeated Mrs. S. Guile, 6 and 5; Mrs. H. G. Means defeated Mrs. A. Robbins, 1 up.

First flight—Mrs. R. Thirwell defeated Mrs. J. Porter, 3 and 2; Mrs. C. Harrell defeated Mrs. D. McIntosh, at the 2nd.

Second flight—Mrs. R. Renwick defeated Mrs. E. Pluto, 8 and 7; Mrs. R. Hume defeated Mrs. A. Carmichael, at the 20th.

Fourth flight—Mrs. W. Passmore defeated Mrs. R. Dyer, 7 and 5; Mrs. G. Hay defeated Mrs. S. Maddocks, 6 and 5; Fifth flight—Mrs. K. Rickman defeated Mrs. R. Merryweather, at the 18th; Mrs. R. Styles defeated Mrs. R. Hume, 3 and 2.

Sixth flight—Mrs. K. Tribe defeated Mrs. G. Coworth, 6 and 5; Mrs. V. Ahrens defeated Mrs. R. LeMarquand, 2 and 1.

Seventh flight—Mrs. L. Pope defeated Mrs. R. Dyer, 7 and 5; Mrs. W. Betts defeated Mrs. L. Bradley, 3 and 2.

Eighth flight—Mrs. E. Livingston defeated Mrs. G. Leung, 1 up; Mrs. R. Roberts defeated Mrs. C. Chapman, 2 and 1.

Ninth flight—Mrs. M. Bliss defeated Mrs. H. Vain, 4 and 3; Mrs. H. Ellis defeated Mrs. J. Porter, 5 and 4; 10th flight—Mrs. R. Fortye defeated Mrs. H. Johnson, 5 and 4; Mrs. E. McMillan defeated Mrs. R. Merryweather, at the 18th; Mrs. R. Styles defeated Mrs. R. Hume, 3 and 2.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

Go anywhere on Vancouver Island except Victoria districts this weekend and you should be sure of getting fish. And in the Victoria district there is a fair chance to get fish.

Rita Cosby says fishing off the tip of Quadra Island, near Cape Mudge and Butlers Point is terrific. Some 61 coho were brought into Ferndell Camp at Campbell River on Wednesday and there were three spring salmon also weighed in—one of them 20 pounds.

Bucktail flies, Abalone spoons and Strip-Teaser are the productive lures. Fishing on the Campbell River side has not been too hot.

George Bates of Bates Beach says fishing is fair in his area with quite a number of coho and good-sized springs being weighed in. The weather has not been too settled and boats have had to wait their chance to go out.

The mouth of the Oyster River has been good for cut-throat trout with a tinsel fly proving attractive. Buttle, Upper and Lower Campbell and other lakes in the area have been good.

Little Qualicum River is producing plenty of fat, firm rainbow trout and the occasional brown, all taken on the fly. Cameron Lake is giving up some two to four-pounders for trollers.

Don Cushing of Deep Bay says there are a good number of coho there and herring strip and Tom Mack spoons are getting them.

Dolly Gorick says Qualicum Beach is extremely good for coho, especially off Eagle Crest. Martin and Mac's Squid plugs are catching them. French Creek and Claytons Beach are both good bets for coho and occasional spring.

There are some spring salmon running up the Nanaimo River and last weekend, Ted Barsby Jr., Carl Anderson and Dave Fallows, fishing from a bank, landed 17, 15, 14 and 12 pounders.

Some good bass are being taken from Quennell Lake in the Cedar district of Nanaimo. Boats and boat launching facilities are available at the Zuldersee Resort or boats may be launched at the end of Ritten Road.

St. Mary Lake on Salt Spring is producing plenty of bass and some of them are fair size.

Flies and spoons are getting good catches of cutthroat at Nitinat Lake. Doungans, Bear and Cowichan Lakes are good for trout but the Cowichan River is only fair to poor. The springs and bluebacks came back to Portler Pass on the weekend but how long they will stay in anyone's guess.

Cheminus Rod and Gun Club has set Sunday, Aug. 21, as date for its annual salmon derby. Anglers will compete for more than $1,500 in prizes. Main prize is a 14-foot, 6-inch runabout with outboard motor. Second prize is a carport boat and third prize a transistor radio. The Cheminus derby, now entering its ninth year, has grown into one of the biggest, most popular one-day fishoffs on the Island. Last year there were more than 800 entries and this year 1,000 are expected.

Catch Fish, Release Tension And We Won't Be Lemmings

By JIM PEACOCK
VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Peter Larkin has often said facetiously that the real reason people go fishing is because it gives them an opportunity for telling a lie without getting caught.

"But I think there's more truth in that statement than you might realize," he says now.

"You can go fishing and come back and tell any kind of whopper you like without worry of any terrible consequences. In other words, sport fishing is a wonderful releaser of social tension."

Dr. Larkin is a University of British Columbia biologist whose professional work is involved in fish research—trying to provide more and bigger fish for the sports fisherman.

AN ESCAPE

Dr. Larkin says fishing and hunting are good ways in which people can get away from day-to-day tensions which build up so easily in today's crowded, urbanized society.

"Lots of the discussions about population explosions are naive," he said in an interview. "People say if we don't control population growth, we will run out of food and water and so on."

"What's going to happen to society before we run out of food and water? You remember the story of the lemmings who developed an over-population problem and then solved it by running off a cliff into the sea? They weren't starving or out of water. They just went nuts."

"I think it is more likely that long before we run out of food or water, we are going to go nuts, too."

He said there should be more development of recreational resources to provide relief from pressures that develop when there is high-density population.

"A lot of the prevailing attitude is that we should go hell-bent for development without considering the consequences and the social implications. Of course, we must be constructive... but a person cannot be constructive seven days a week without a break or he's asking for trouble."

Dr. Larkin said there has been too much insistence on placing a dollar value on the country's recreational resources, too many attempts to measure it in tourist dollars.

"These are important, of

Patients Cut Up Portmarnock

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (UPI)—Little Gary Player and muffed Bobby Locke, a pair of walking hospital cases from South Africa, gasped and grunted their way to the first-round lead today in the international trophy and Canada Cup golf championships.

Player, so stricken with an asthma attack that he had to have adrenalin injections both before and during play, fired a seven-under-par course record 31-24-65 to grab the individual lead away from Belgium's Flori Van Donck's 34-34-68 and Yankee Arnold Palmer's 36-33-69.

Canada's twosome of Stan Leonard (74) of Vancouver and Al Balding of Toronto (72), were six shots off the pace with a first round 146.

Balding, who has never shot as well as he can in Canada Cup competition, was the steadier of the two Canadians today. He matched par on both nines—36 out and 36 in. He collected a birdie on the fifth hole but bogeyed the ninth. After birdieing the 17th, Balding lost a stroke to par on the final hole.

Leonard, who has twice won individual honors in this event, was erratic all day. He bogied the first hole, birdied the second and then took a double-bogey six on the fourth before ending the front nine with a birdie three on the ninth.

On the back nine, the 48-year-old Vancouver pro twice got into traps on the 17th to take another six and then blew a four-foot putt that would have given him a birdie on the 18th.

The 42-year-old Locke, still in pain from February automobile accident injuries, kicked in with a 36-36-72 for a two-man Canada Cup total of 137 and a three-shot lead over the United States team, for which Slammin' Sammy Snead shot a 35-36-71.

HOLE-IN-ONE

The 24-year-old Player stole the show this cool, hazy day on the banks of the Irish Sea during which spectators drove the players to the edge of distraction with constantly grinding and clicking cameras and Sweden's Ake Bergquist canned a two-iron hole-in-one on the 192-yard par three 15th hole.

The handsome, dark-haired South African wielded an "inconspicuous" putter as he prepped for his defence of the British Open crown two weeks hence by collecting five birdies on the first seven holes. This spree helped him wipe out the old mark of 66 for the 7,093-yard Portmarnock course, set last year by Ireland's Christy O'Connor.

Player sank putts from all over the greens as he finished in the gathering dusk and snatched the individual lead from Van Donck, who observed his 48th birthday with that fine 68.

Palmer, who last week won the U.S. Open championship and will seek a double in the 100th anniversary British Open starting July 4, was making his first competitive start with the small British ball. He expressed disappointment in his putting although he took only 30 strokes on the greens power-hitting Pennsylvanian, can't bring cameras onto the course. "The cameras bothered both of us a great deal," said the starting tomorrow spectators "crazy."

N.Y. Rally Held Back By Rails

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks advanced sharply in the early part of the session but ran out of steam around the close to finish well below their highs.

Rail issues ran into some stiff resistance in the late trading after being up more than a point at their best. A new contract with trainmen may cool the companies $30,000,000 a year.

Toronto Oils

Autos were irregular. Ford tacked on a small fraction, said Chrysler, while General Motors added around 1. American Motors eased.

Continental Oil rose 1/4 and Richfield 1/4 in a generally firm oil division, and Pipeliner Aircraft added 1/4 in its section.

Toronto Mines

Among papers, Consolidated went up 1/4 at 39 1/2, Abitibi went up 1/4 at 39 1/2, and Bathurst and Howland Smith were up 1/4 at 43 and 39. St. Lawrence Corporation and Price Brothers were off 1/4 at 17 1/2 and 41 1/2.

Canada Losing Floating Money

Some of the world's floating money which has been working for its owners in the high yield field of Canadian bonds during the past few months may be on the move elsewhere as a sequel to the Bank of England's decision yesterday to increase the British bank rate from five to six per cent.

The new British rate provides investment possibilities of a more attractive nature than exists in Canada where the interest rate on short-term money has dropped in the past two months to about 3 per cent.

Large Gains Recorded In Canadian Exports

OTTAWA (CP)—Export showed a slower rise, increase, showing renewed strength after an April set-back, shot ahead in May to a level 12.7 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Total commodity exports in the month reached $485,000,000 compared with $431,300,000 in May, 1959, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Fun Afloat Is Fishing Jaunt or Cruise

Boating is for everyone. This is a true family recreation. Whatever size of boat, or its type, every member of the family can enjoy its ownership.

Dad, for an early morning fishing jaunt, the young ones for mid-day skiing, skindiving or swimming, then all the family can enjoy together a pleasant trip in the afternoon to some remote inlet or bay for an appetite-stimulating, outdoor dinner cooked ashore camp style. This is outdoor living par excellence.

Boating is a healthful, happy way of living. And so the cost cannot be measured in dollars. Medical doctors advise (and follow their own advice) go boating for its therapeutic values in this modern, bustling, nerve-racking society.

GETTING AWAY

Getting away from it all is easy for the boat-owning family, and whether it be only an hour or two, or a two week's vacation cruise, boating brings health and pleasure.

Boating offers you many choices. Yes, you can start with a flat-bottomed wooden punt and a single-cylinder outboard and hoist the rig onto a rack on your car roof, and you are on your way through an open door inviting you to a new experience in living. Investment?—$250.

Fun afloat is skimming on skis or sunning aboard.

Or perhaps you would like a larger multipurpose boat that would serve for fishing, water ski towing, and family day cruising. This could be about 14 to 16 feet in length, comfortably equipped with up-holstered seating and maybe a boat top to shield against sun and inclement weather. Maybe the spirit of adventure stirring within you dictates that your boat choice be one for cruising over that beckoning horizon.

Your boating is now unlimited and only the size of your bank account need be the limiting factor in boat size, power, and speed. You can invest $2,000 or $40,000! But you will get comfortable berths, a compact galley for cooking, toilet facilities, and, in diminutive, most of the comforts of modern living ashore.

Forget the whole idea of going boating if you think you just must go as fast afloat as you do on the highway—even half the speed is ridiculous. Be well satisfied with a speed of 15 miles an hour when cruising and a "playboy" top of 30 miles an hour in a family runabout. Remember when you go boating you have "arrived"

2-CYLINDER MOTORS!

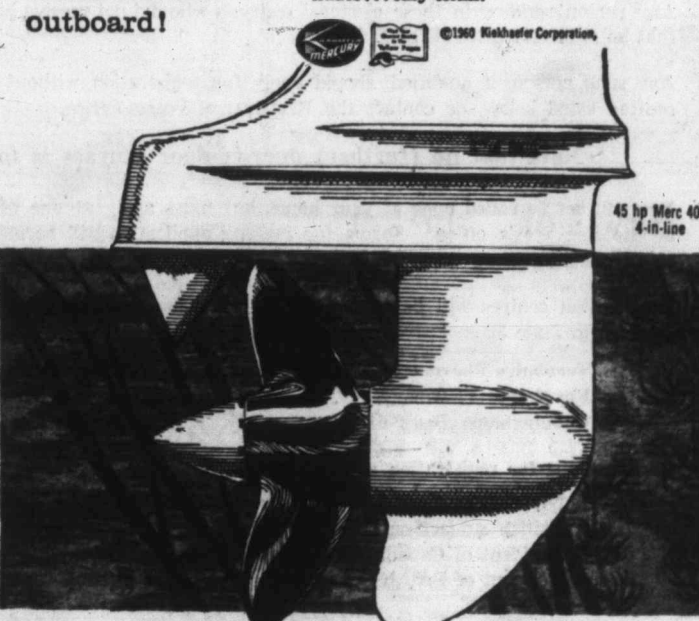

Compare Mercury's "four" with any other outboards before you buy—and you'll agree Mercury gives you much more for your money! MORE horsepower with the 40 hp performance of a Merc 300 and the 45 hp performance of a Merc 400, PLUS the extra dependability and smoothness of 4-cylinder-in-line design! But you can buy a Mercury four for little more than other motors with less performance and only two cylinders. And Mercury can save you the cost difference in a season or two with up to 25 percent more fuel economy than big-bore twins.

Helium Bottle Blast Killed Bomarc Test

WASHINGTON (CP) — Destruction of a Bomarc-A missile in a test June 7 was caused by a high-pressure bottle of helium which burst, rupturing the engine fuel tanks, the U.S. Air Force said Thursday.

Similar helium bottles are on the Bomarc-B, to be based in Canada. A high-priority inspection is under way to check all such helium bottles.

Girl Wins S. J. Willis Trophy At School's Year-End Event

Honors for combined academic standing, sportsmanship and citizenship at S. J. Willis Junior High School this week went to Grade 9 student Gail Wall.

She received the S. J. Willis trophy from Mrs. Willis, widow of the former deputy minister of education after whom the school is named, at the 10th annual awards day.

Grade 9 students and their parents were guests of the school for the occasion. A crowd of nearly 800 jammed the auditorium and Grade 7 classes were kept in class while the ceremony was in progress.

Winner of the IODE $50 scholarship for the highest academic standing in the school was Logaine Elliott. The presentation was made by Mrs. J. R. Campbell, regent of the Camosun Chapter, IODE.

Prizes also went to the top five students in each of the three grades.

Grade 7, Beverly Peters, Grade 8, Diana McCoy, Grade 9, Gail Wall, Lorraine Elliott, Marjorie Duncan, Norma Slagboom, Michael Dawes.

The awards to class leaders were presented by Alex Turnbull, who retires as assistant district superintendent of schools this fall. He in turn was presented with a gold school pin as a memento.

Zoo Instead of Hullabaloo

Snicker Not Ticker Will Greet Man's First Return from Star

LOS ANGELES (AP)—All is not going to be beer and skittles for the first space traveller reaching the nearest star and returning to a ticker-tape reception.

Dr. Edward Teller, noted physicist and father of the U.S. hydrogen bomb, said the space pioneer might find himself 50 years older, the world 3,000,000 years older, "and instead of being a hero he might end up in a zoo."

"In concordance with the laws of physics, someone in this lifetime could go to Andromeda, but I recommend against it," Dr. Teller told a University of California meeting Wednesday night.

NOT RECOGNIZE

"If there is life out there, then where is everybody? Is it possible that it's a form of life that we may not recognize as such and isn't it even more possible that we in our galaxy may just be suburban living in a God-forsaken outpost? There is a possibility that we may soon be able to tune in via radio on noises 20,000 light years away in the centre of the galaxy and if we hear what I think we will hear, then I will become an isolationist with regard to space exploration."

MODERN RIP

The scientist's mention of a space explorer's winding up in a zoo was a light reference to Einstein's theory of relativity and the possibility of a space-man's becoming a modern Rip Van Winkle on his return.

Dr. Teller said that getting to the next star will be difficult if the rocket is powered with hydrogen fusion. So powered, one-twentieth the speed of light would be its maximum and that would require 80 years to get to Proxima Centauri.

STILL UNSOLVED

"Don't be premature and ask for a purpose in our space research. After all, Columbus set out to solve a trade problem with China, and that still isn't solved. The by-products of his voyage were infinitely more valuable and it is the infinite itself we now want to solve. We will certainly get to the moon and the planets in this century alone."

300 Marking B.C. Exams

Three hundred persons have been hired by the department of education to mark high school examination papers this summer.

A department spokesman said yesterday the job of marking "tens of thousands" of papers will begin Monday.

Last examination papers were written in high schools Wednesday.

Scow Suit Completed

Judgment has been reserved in a suit for damages of $2,600 sought by Island Tug and Barge Ltd. from Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd., both of Victoria, in B.C. Supreme Court here.

Mr. Justice H. W. MacInnes heard the case, in which the tug firm claimed a scow had been severely damaged when moved by the other firm from a deep-water berth to an inner berth at Nanaimo in January, 1958, and allowed to settle to the ocean floor at low tide.

The defendant firm claimed this was standard practice.

Water Sales Solved

An indication Central Saanich will have no trouble selling water to outside areas was given by Sidney-North Saanich Chamber of Commerce this week.

President Gordon Hulme told chamber members Central Saanich council has received official word from Ottawa that the sale of the Elk Lake-Patricia Bay pipeline to the municipality had been approved.

He said members of the water committee were anxious to meet municipal council to discuss providing a piped water supply for North Saanich.

The government-owned pipeline, sold to Central Saanich municipality for $1, now supplies the experimental station at Saanich and Patricia Bay Airport.

Municipal ratepayers approved an $83,000 water by-law Dec. 17 authorizing purchase of the pipeline and the building of a reservoir as first steps to provide a piped water supply for the municipality.

Victoria Sailor Cornwallis' Best

Winner of the "best all-round man" award at HMCS Cornwallis was OS Grant R. W. Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. R. Barker, 3800 Carey Road, Victoria. He recently completed the 15-week basic course at the RCN training establishment in Nova Scotia.

Second Firm Seeks Gas Line to Island

A second firm has applied to the provincial government for the right to build a natural gas pipeline to Vancouver Island.

Island Transmission Co. of Nanaimo announced yesterday it has filed an application for leave to construct with Transport Minister Wicks. Earlier, Magna Pipeline Co. announced it was applying.

Only Legal Owner Of B.C. Is Indian

British Columbia Indians have a claim to all the land in the province, no matter who holds "legal" title to it, Rev. Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo warned in Victoria yesterday.

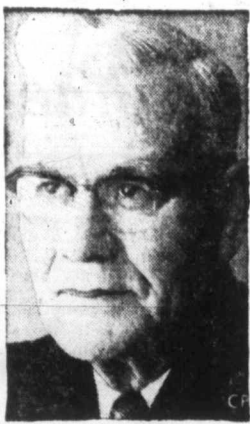

"Treaties have been made with Indian tribes across Canada, but treaties have not been made with Indians in B.C.," he said.

"In 1871 the B.C. Land Bill came before the House of Commons and the minister of lands then pointed out that until that was done this bill could not pass. That bill was disallowed."

"Later on, the following session, it was brought up again and allowed to pass, possibly through political pressure."

"It was passed with a warning that B.C. would have to deal with the Indian title. This was never done."

"So, some day you might find your title to your lot is not as sound as you thought it was."

DR. PETER KELLY

Reserve Sanitation at Crisis, Shocks Indian Clergyman

Making a plea for improved conditions for Indians living on reserves in British Columbia, Rev. Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo yesterday described as "appalling and shocking" conditions he saw recently on the Nanaimo reserve.

"If an epidemic of typhoid fever were to break out through conditions like that it would not be confined to the reservation," he said.

He claimed the provincial government should see Indian people have the same standard of living as other citizens of the province with improved roads and facilities.

"An Indian superintendent, simply because he is appointed to that office, does not become an expert on welfare. Why should he deal with things he does not know anything about?"

Dr. Kelly was speaking to a meeting of the Community Welfare Council in Spencer House. The council is forming a study committee from Greater Victoria groups which are interested in Indian welfare.

He called for provincial government aid for Indians to deal with health, welfare and sanitation problems, taking over the responsibilities from the federal government.

Once a proud, independent race, B.C. Indians have lost their self-confidence through years of being regulated and governed by the white man, Dr. Kelly said.

"At one time the Indian did not consider himself inferior—they were the rulers so far as the country was concerned," he said.

"Now the Indian thinks that possibly he is not able to decide for himself. Things have been done for him so long that, today, he has the provincial vote, he has not availed himself of it much."

Dr. Kelly said that when the federal government gives the Indians a vote in federal affairs there may be more reaction as Indians have had much more to do with the federal government than the provincial government.

Inquest Held Up By RCAF

LAKE COWICHAN — Inquest into the death of Brentwood fishing guide Claude James Creed, 23, who plummeted 80 feet to his death while being hoisted up to a helicopter during the Nitinat Lake air search, will not be resumed until the RCAF has concluded its own inquiry into the mishap.

RCMP here said yesterday they still had no word when the RCAF report would be forthcoming.

Creed, who was helping in the search for his uncle, Cecil Rawlings — one of two Victoria businessmen whose plane crashed in the wilds near Nitinat Lake — was killed early this month.

Two Shifts Racing Deadline on School

The new Gordon Head Junior High School, still under construction, is expected to be ready to accommodate some 400 students by the time school opens again, Sept. 6.

R. Hamilton Smith, buildings and grounds superintendent for the Greater Victoria school board, said last night the contract calls for the construction of only the classroom and office section of the school.

The contractor is using two shifts on the work to meet the deadline.

To be completed after the deadline are the gymnasium, change rooms and lunch room.

Segregation Requirement

Victoria and Saanich police chiefs agreed yesterday with the Greater Victoria juvenile detention home committee that a new detention home is needed.

And so, to a degree, did municipal leaders, with two "buts."

EVIDENT

The need for segregation facilities is evident, the municipal leaders said, but there is no money in municipal budgets for construction of the facilities or a new home this year.

Furthermore, they said, the situation is not satisfactory now but the operation of the new Greater Victoria juvenile and family court may have some effect on it.

NEW HOME

The detention home committee called in its annual report for a new home, quoting assistant city engineer Rodrick Clark as saying reconstruction or extension of the present Coldharbour Road home would be expensive and would not meet requirements.

"Certainly we need a new juvenile detention home," Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock agreed. "The one we have now is nothing but an inadequate fire-trap."

TOO SMALL

"It isn't big enough. It lacks proper facilities. If a youngster is picked up drunk, and that happens too often, he or she cannot be put in the home, because there's no isolation. The same holds true for any youngster who turns violent. The home has no close-security arrangement at all."

Saanich Police Chief W. A. Pearson said he was on a committee which studied the home in 1946—"It was recognized even then, quite definitely, that the home did not have the proper facilities, and was a purely temporary measure."

OUT OF STEP

The home has been out of step with needs for years, he said.

But Mayor Percy Scourrah, Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay, Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, city welfare chairman, all noted that nothing can be done this year about a new home, for lack of money.

They all agreed, too, that the operation of the new court may have some effect on requirements, which will be seen in the remainder of this year.

FEWER CHILDREN

"We can't tell yet how the court will work out," said Ald. Wilson. "I hope it will mean fewer children in the home. But for the few who need it, there should be segregation."

The home, she said, "is doing an excellent job except that it can't handle the vicious and drunken juveniles, who have to be put in jail with the consent of the mag's rate."

NOT SATISFIED

Mayor Scourrah said he is "still not satisfied that it's not possible to build security rooms" at the present home. He intends to confer with Mr. Clark on the question he said.

Broad Street Real Spoiler

Ninety-seven Victoria property-owners spoiled their ballots in yesterday's voting on the parking and mall by-law, mostly by writing "yes" or "no" or making "ticks" instead of crosses.

But one did a more elaborate job. With a blue pencil, he crossed out the "View Street" in the description of the bylaw and wrote in "Broad Street."

Ald. Wilson

Cafe Food Inquiry Underway

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson is looking into sanitation in city food-handling establishments, she said yesterday, and expects the situation will be discussed at the next meeting of the Victoria-Esquamalt health board.

Ald. Wilson, chairman of city council health and welfare committee, started her study early this month after Ald. Elmer McEwen suggested regulations in some instances were being circumvented.

If the investigation indicates a need, the committee will consider recommending regulatory licensing as a means of tightening enforcement.

Cougar Hunt Called Off In East Sooke

Veteran cougar hunter James Dewar returned to Nanaimo last night after a fruitless two-day search for a cougar trail in the East Sooke area.

Mr. Dewar and his dogs were called here after a number of cougar sighting reports were made to RCMP. Latest reports came yesterday, when one of the wild cats was supposed to have been seen at 17-Mile House near Sooke.

The car was heavily damaged, said police.

Gowen Will Probated

Orphanage, Hospital Share in Big Estate

$200,000 Bequest To Anscorb

Queen Alexandra Solarium, B.C. Protestant Orphanage, St. John's Church and Royal Jubilee Hospital each receive $5,250 from F. A. "Gus" Gowen's $336,000 estate, one of three probated at the court house here recently.

After further bequests to relatives and friends, residue — about $200,000 — goes to childless widow Herbert Anscorb, Coalition government cabinet minister (1941-52), reeve of Oak Bay (1925-27) and mayor of Victoria (1929-31).

Mr. Gowen, a childless widower, willed $100 a month to his sister, Miss Mary Emma Gowen, who died a few weeks later, leaving her $18,000 estate to relatives, with exception of $500 each to Christian Science Church and that church's rest home, Wayside House, at Foul Bay and Chandler.

PIONEER BREWER

Born in Victoria in 1868, Mr. Gowen was son of a well-to-do pioneer brewer.

Mrs. Muriel Dunsmuir, who died in Paris, left a $197,000 estate, largest bequest, $25,000, going to a nephew, Robin Dunsmuir, of Victoria, only descendant of Vancouver Island coal, timber, railway and shipping baron Robert Dunsmuir, builder of Craigdarroch Castle, to bear the Dunsmuir family name.

Mrs. Dunsmuir left $10,000 to her elder sister, Mrs. John Hope, who lives in Portugal, but now visiting Vancouver Island. There are smaller bequests to nieces and nephews, $5,000 to a life-long Victoria friend, Miss Innes Bodwell; $1,000 each to Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stalker of Victoria, former members of her household staff.

Residue of this estate, after bequests of about $100,000 — goes to her younger sister, Mrs. Dora Cavendish of "Dolaura," Colwood.

H. G. T. Perry, Speaker of the legislature from 1938 to 1937, minister of education from 1941 to 1945, and former owner-publisher of The Prince Rupert News, left a $159,000 estate to his widow, two sons and other relatives. He had lived some years in retirement in Victoria.

Police, Jury Recommendation

B.C. May Re-Word Middle-Lane Signs

A highways department official said yesterday that "very serious consideration" is being given to a suggestion that B.C. abandon three-lane highway markers which read "slow traffic use right lane."

In their place would go signs indicating that the centre lane is for passing only.

Recommendations that the present signs be scrapped because they constitute a traffic hazard have come from inquest jurors and, more recently, from the RCMP.

Police claim that the present signs are misleading because they encourage people to believe that they may lawfully drive in the centre lane at all times if their vehicle does not come under the definition of "slow traffic."

They point out, as did a highways department official yesterday, that the Motor Vehicle Act clearly states that where there are two lanes for traffic going in one direction, motorists must use the right lane and move to the left lane only for passing.

HEAD-ON

Most recent, inquest jury recommendation to get rid of the present signs came from Duncan last January following a probe into the deaths of two men whose cars slammed head-on into each other at the top of the Malahat near Mill Bay.

Evidence presented at the inquest indicated the cars met in the centre lane.

Also protesting three-lane highway signs is the Greater Victoria and District Safety Council, whose traffic committee chairman, William G. Fergie, recently termed the markers "most ambiguous" in a letter to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

District Firemen Answer Grass, Bush Blaze Alarms

Firemen in the Greater Victoria area were called out to two grass fires yesterday. Children were seen playing with firecrackers shortly before a small grass fire broke out in Oak Bay at the top of Ingleswood at 7 p.m. Langford firemen pumped 400 gallons of water on a bush fire which started at 3:15 p.m. at Brock and Deville.

It is not hot enough yet for grass fires to constitute a major danger, but the grass is dry and people should be careful, firemen said yesterday.

Slowpokes Face Arrests On Patricia Bay Highway

Slowpoke drivers on the Patricia Bay Highway face a crackdown by police unless they mend their ways.

Action was triggered by complaints from B.C. government ferry service officials who said slow drivers were holding up ferry-catching buses, causing some near misses on ferry connections. Sidney RCMP Cpl. William Stanton said last night police would take necessary action and prosecute flagrant violators travelling too slowly on the highway.

He warned slow drivers to keep an eye on the mirror and pull to the side of the road when they see they are causing a pile-up.

Central Saanich police chief F. L. Brownlee said the municipal force would aid with the crackdown.

Slowpoke drivers are liable to fines from $10-$300 or in default of payment up to six months in jail.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I'm 18 and in love with a six-foot, 130-pound idiot.

The time is approaching when he'll have to serve his time in the army. He's terribly thin, but in excellent health. I've known him for 10 years and he's never been sick. Hank is a basketball star and a hockey player.

Last night he told me he plans to go on a strict diet so when he has to take his physical he'll be too weak to walk. He has arranged to have friends wheel him in a chair.

I've told him I think this is cowardly and he could make himself ill with this nonsense. He says the army is a brutal waste of time and there are enough lunatics who want to go into the army instead of to work, so the government should let the others alone.

Give Me Strength

Dear Ann: You seem to be so sensible and sure of yourself. Please, will you give me a little of your strength?

I'm married to a fine man and have lovely children. I've never had any serious illness but I'm a nervous wreck worrying about becoming seriously ill and dying young. Whenever I hear of someone with cancer I'm sure I'm next. Then I imagine all sorts of symptoms and become so upset I can't do my housework. Please, Ann, help me.

Dear S.R.: Life is a day-to-day affair for all of us. No one can be sure he will escape death, accident or serious illness, no matter what precautions he may take.

Tell yourself this: According to life insurance statistics, the law of averages says you will live to be 70. If you worry about your health, go to a doctor every three months for a checkup. Frequent reassurance from him will help to give you peace of mind. Most cancer is not fatal when detected early.

Have a substitute thought ready to drive the illness-worries out of your mind. Do your housework to gay music and keep yourself busy busy busy!

Poorest Lovers

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe I should not be writing to you because I do not have my American citizenship papers as yet and you will probably think I am anti-American. This is not the case. I would like to add a few words to the Gentleman Observer's fight, dealing with complaints of a foreigner against the U.S.

I think he was right and you were wrong. Here are my reasons. I have seen American teenagers sitting in buses while elderly people stand, leaning on the seats or holding straps. In my country 14-year-old girls do not go to school with lipstick half an inch thick, eyebrows painted, blue paste on the eyes and red nail polish. A French woman would never dare to go shopping with her hair twisted up in metal curlers or hairpins. I've seen American women in the grocery store wearing bedroom slippers, shorts and with rags tied around their heads. American men with their pocket handkerchiefs are a joke. They have an international reputation for being the loudest laughers, the most vulgar spenders and the poorest lovers.—A PARIS LADY.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Mr. and Mrs. Laird Honeymoon in U.S.

A honeymoon in Washington state followed the wedding, Saturday, of Sonja Alexandra Pylypa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pylypa, 1863 Feltham Road, to Mr. James Laird.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Laird, live at West View, B.C.

Rev. F. J. Parsons conducted the double-ring ceremony at Centennial United Church.

The bride wore a full length white gown with long sleeves and a neckline outlined in pearls.

Her shoulder length veil was dotted with pearls. Pink roses and white carnations formed her bouquet.

Three attendants also carried white and pink carnations. Two bridesmaids and a matron of honor wore gowns of pale blue taffeta and brocade.

A reception at Holyrood House followed the ceremony. The new Mrs. Laird wore a winter white sheath dress under a powder blue coat with

Girl Guides To Assist With Stalls

Final plans for a garden party to be held at the home of Mrs. M. Heika, 2835 Colquitz Avenue, Friday, June 24 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. were discussed at the final meeting for the season of Tillamook Girl Guide and Brownie Mothers.

Mrs. J. W. Horth will open the affair and guides will be in charge of stalls. Brownies will have a homebaking contest and all entries will be sold.

Tea arrangements are in charge of Mrs. M. Heika and Mrs. A. Brookman.

Mrs. S. Allen will convene the white elephant stall and Mrs. J. Elliot is in charge of tickets.

Dr. J. Clearihue Presents Prizes

Junior school awards at the annual prize giving at St. Margaret's School were presented by a former pupil, Dr. Joyce Clearihue, yesterday afternoon.

Head mistress of the school, Mrs. C. C. Godson, gave her report on the year's activities, and songs and numbers by the rhythm band completed the afternoon's program.

Middle and senior schools annual prize giving takes place this evening when Commissioner C. E. Rivett, Carnarvon, (Rtd) will address the graduating class and present prizes.

Form prizes were presented as follows: Form IB, proficiency, Wendy Overton; greatest progress during year, Catherine Horne; Form IA, proficiency, Laurie MacBride; dependability and attitude, Carolyn Stewart.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING STIMULATES BUYING

Now in California on a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Campbell were married in St. Luke's Church recently. The bride, the former Catherine Storr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Storr of Courtney, graduated this year from Royal Jubilee School of Nursing. The couple will reside on May Street.—(Chevron photo.)

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE

With an eye to the out-of-doors—to gardening, golf and other activities—I suggest sausage as one of the best buys for hot weather meals when one wishes to spend as little time as possible indoors cooking over a hot stove.

Sausages fit so well into simplified meal planning. They require little preparation, there is no waste and you can serve them for any meal of the day.

SAUSAGE ROLLS

It's best to cook the sausages and cool them before making up the rolls since excess fat is first rendered out of the sausages and eliminates greasiness.

This recipe starts with fresh sausages—but you may use leftovers if you wish. In fact, you could buy two or three pounds of sausages, cook them all at once in the broiler (8 to 10 minutes, turning once) in the oven (30 to 35 minutes in 325° oven), serve what you need for dinner and the rest use to make up the rolls.

ONE POUND

One pound of cooked small sausages makes 18 to 20 rolls. For covering use either pastry or thin slices of bread with crusts removed. Bake pastry-covered rolls in 450 oven 12 to 15 minutes; broil bread-covered rolls about 4 minutes turning once.

PASTRY COVERING

For pastry covering pastry, broil or bake sausages until lightly browned; then chill. Prepare pastry and roll out into a rectangle to a thickness of not more than 1/4 inch. Place a cooked sausage at edge of rectangle and cut pastry into strips as wide as the sausage is long. Then cut strips in rectangles long enough to wrap the sausages.

WITH MUSTARD

If desired spread each rectangle with a thin layer of prepared mustard. Roll up sausages, moisten edge of pastry and seal. Place on lightly greased baking sheet sealed edge down. Brush with milk and bake in a very hot oven (450°) until lightly browned—12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 18 to 20 rolls.

TIDBIT TRAY

For a tidbit tray cut sausages in halves and proceed as above. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. For the bread cases trim crusts from 1/2 inch bread, roll sausage in bread and fasten with toothpicks.

Brush lightly with melted butter if desired. Place under broiler so that tops of rolls are 6 inches from broiling unit. Broil until toasted to a delicate brown—about 2 minutes. Then turn and broil another 2 minutes.

BESANT TEA

Besant Lodge, of the Theosophical Society, will hold a garden tea on Saturday, June 25, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. C. D. Harrison, 1290 Union Road. There will be a white elephant and home cooking stalls, gate prize, etc. Take Cook-Maplewood bus to Union Road.

PERSONAL MENTION

The Board of Governors of the University of British Columbia of which Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross is a member, will hold a meeting at Government House on Monday. The board members will have dinner with the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ross that evening. His Honor and Mrs. Ross, accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean will lunch with Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Holmes at their View Royal residence on Tuesday and on Wednesday, the Lieutenant Governor will attend a reception given by Mr. W. M. V. Ash, president of the Shell Oil Company of Canada, at the Hotel Vancouver.

Wedding Guests

Out-of-town guests at the Pupak-Tulloch wedding recently included Mrs. J. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Moir, Mr. and Mrs. M. Puchak and Miss Sylvia Moir all of Vancouver, and Mrs. D. Drummond of Regina.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. R. Banning, Mrs. A. E. Parkes, Mrs. G. Wilkinson and Mrs. C. D. Forsberg were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at 3771 Winston Crescent to honor Miss Charlotte Berry, June bride-elect. Guest of honor received a corsage of pink rosebuds, and Mrs. W. Exley, her sister, and Mrs. John Gillespie, mother of the groom-to-be were presented with carnation corsages. Guests included Mrs. R. Gillespie, Mrs. G. Hillsden, Mrs. A. Wells, Mrs. B. Berry, Mrs. C. Cousins and Misses Donna Berry, and Yvonne Banning.

X-ray Technicians Party

Mrs. Dorothy Browning and Mrs. Bernice Seyfort were co-hostesses at the home of the latter, 2951 Phyllis Street, at a party for graduate X-ray technicians of St. Joseph's Hospital recently. Guests included Mrs. T. Doherty, Mrs. C. Spencer, Mrs. B. Robertson, Mrs. A. Farnden, Mrs. E. Walther, Mrs. M. Griffin, Mrs. L. McMillan and Mrs. Y. Bridge.

To Marry in Edmonton

Party for Miss Gelson

A miscellaneous shower was held recently for Miss Marg Gelson whose marriage to Cst. Rodger Wallace will take place on June 25. Mrs. Helen Smart and Miss Bonnie Schacht were co-hostesses at the latter's home on Bowdley Avenue. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. Guests were Mrs. D. Gelson, Mrs. J. Ingram, Mrs. A. Brice, Mrs. I. Harlow, Mrs. H. Harlow, Mrs. C. Smart, Mrs. M. Paxton, Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. J. Schacht, Mrs. S. Morry, Miss J. Smith, and Miss M. Holligan.

Baby Shower

Mrs. George Byron, who recently gave birth to twin girls, was honored at a baby shower on Wednesday at the home of the Misses Norah and Gwynedd Hughes, 1013 Vancouver Street. Gifts were concealed in a decorated bassinet. Invited guests, members of the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society, were Mrs. Mildred Allen, Mrs. Fern Brawn, Mrs. Diana Bray, Mrs. G. E. Butterfield, Mrs. Gwen Glew, Mrs. Margery Hartnell, Mrs. Celia Richardson, Mrs. Huguette Roadshaw, Mrs. Evelyn Rogers, Mrs. Janet Senior, Mrs. Donna Vogler, and the Misses Peggy Dodimead, Eleanor and Margaret Duff, and Beryl Harrison.

Too Many Vitamins Harmful to Children

EDMONTON (CP)—Vitamin stress such as pregnancy, sickness or overwork. This did not mean over-eating. With life more mechanized than ever before, the members of the family be encouraged to follow good eating much less than formerly.

"Some mothers feel that if vitamins are good then the more the better," she told a joint convention of the Alberta Home Economics and Registered Dietitians associations.

"This is far from true. An excess of a certain vitamin in a child may cause a complete lack of appetite, short, coarse hair, dry skin or even an enlarged liver."

Mothers should increase their knowledge of vitamins instead of the dose, she said, adding that there are only a few isolated cases of vitamin deficiency in Canada.

"By eating a wide variety of food, you can scarcely fail to consume the needed vitamins. There will not be the added cost of vitamin pills or the danger of over-dosage."

Dr. Empey added that the body accumulates certain nutrients for the times when intake may be below average or during periods of physical

'Home-Made'

Heart Pump
Used on Girl

VANCOUVER (CP)—A "home-made" heart-lung pump was used in St. Paul's Hospital here in surgical treatment of a 12-year-old Kelowna girl with a leak in her heart.

Two Sides
To Story
Of the Year

LONDON (AP)—Next year will be 1961—whether it stands on its head or its heels.

As a letter in the London Times notes today, you can turn 1961 upside down and it remains 1961.

"When next," the letter asks, "will such a date re-occur?" (Ed. note: 6009.)

U.S. Storms
Kill Nine

LOUISVILLE (UPI)—A deadly summer tempest poured record-breaking rains on Louisville Thursday in a surge of tornadic winds and lightning-riddled downpours from the Mississippi to the Appalachians.

At least nine deaths were blamed on storms which started Wednesday night and continued Thursday—four in Kentucky, two in Pennsylvania, two in Illinois, and one in Indiana.

SPACE SAVER

Use of microfilm for preserving records in a small space was developed by the French chemist Rene Dagon in 1870.

Dr. Harold Rice, a former University of Alberta professor and head of the physiology department there, performed the three-hour operation on Anne Lavery.

FOUR YEARS

The machine is the result of four years of work. It is designed to function as mechanical heart and lungs while surgery was performed on these organs.

Vancouver General Hospital got its own machine while St. Paul's was developing its own.

MANY DONORS

The project received $23,750 from the Heart Foundation, B.C. Polio Fund, the Koerner Foundation, St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary and another $4,755 from private donors.

The doctors of St. Paul's started a fund from every fee they collected for electrocardiograms and it grew along with personal donations, from the doctors, to $46,796.

UNIT CREATED

They named Dr. Rice director of research and created a clinical investigation unit in the hospital.

Two months ago, Anne Lavery came to St. Paul's for her diagnosis.

NOT CRITICAL

Her condition was not critical, but the hole in her heart was larger than the average of its type and she was showing the symptoms, shortness of breath and swelling of the legs.

She was operated on Wednesday and is expected to live her normal life span.

Quebec Punditry

CCF, Liberals
Both Invited

Only two things were crystal on the B.C. political scene yesterday in the wake of a Quebec election which hardly anybody understands but which everybody is prepared to interpret.

1. Only B.C. Liberals attach any significance to the Liberal resurgence in Quebec.

2. If CCFs and Liberals accept each other's invitations to withdraw from the next provincial election the Social Credit party can practically count on a clean-sweep victory.

TWO SOLUTIONS

Keen students of the B.C. political scene yesterday noted a marked similarity between two election solutions proposed by CCF leader Robert Strachan and Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Mr. Strachan early in the day called on the Liberals to withdraw from the next provincial election in favor of the CCF party.

Last night Mr. Perrault invited CCF members to become Liberals.

Impartial political observers deemed both proposals somewhat unlikely, at best.

But yesterday was not, they pointed out, a day for generating appraisals or proposals.

OUTS, INS

It was a day whose political tempo was set by such remarkable observations as Mr. Strachan's "The (Quebec) result shows that a provincial government can be upset when the people are dissatisfied."

or B.C. Conservative leader Deane Finlayson's "the outs went in and the ins went out."

Give Antidote to Poison
With Home Chemicals

OTTAWA (CP)—Poisonous household chemicals should be sold in packages giving antidotes for the poisons, Harry Jones (PC, Saskatoon) said in the Commons Thursday.

He told of a case in Saskatoon in which a 2½-year-old child died after eating a chemical fertilizer.

Chutist Killed

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Twice while plummeting earthward from a height of 6,000 feet two members of the Fairbanks Parachute Club tried the difficult feat of passing a baton during a free fall. Each time they failed.

Holding the baton was Paul Tritch, 33. This was his 25th jump. With him attempting the stunt Wednesday was Robert Sinclair, a veteran of 383 leaps.

Suddenly after his second unsuccessful try to grasp the baton Sinclair noticed the ground rushing toward them. He snapped his chute open at an altitude of 500 feet, and cried:

"Paul, for God's sake pull the ring!"

Tritch heard, but too late. His parachute began streaming out of its pack just as he hit the ground.

He was still gripping the baton when others found his broken body.

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (UPI)—U.S. tipplers will down more Canadian whisky this year than the rest of the world—including Canada—combined, William Tigh, president of Canadian Schenley Ltd., predicted Thursday.

He said exports to the U.S. earned $72,000,000 for Canada in 1959, and would climb about 5 to 7 per cent this year.

Tigh, a director of Schenley Industries, Inc., said the U.S. last year gulped 85 per cent of Canada's total exports, or 11,800,000 gallons, up from 4,000,000 gallons in 1947.

The executive spoke at civic ceremonies hailing the 200th anniversary of the Canadian whisky industry.

For August Rite?

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Diplomatic sources here say the new Russian embassy in Havana will be established in August, possibly timed with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to Cuba, date for which has not been set officially.

Russia presently maintains no diplomatic mission in Cuba.

Grouse Mountain
Offered for Park

SQUAMISH (CP)—A Vancouver syndicate has offered to sell a 4,000-foot mountain to the provincial government for development into a park.

Recreation Minister Westwood, here for an out-of-the-capital cabinet meeting, said a decision on whether to buy Grouse Mountain in North Vancouver will be made in about two weeks.

He said the proposal would entail considerable expenditure to provide proper access to the ski chalet because the present chairlift is inadequate.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United Nations yesterday could claim one of its few undisputed triumphs since the Second World War—a peaceful settlement of the Argentine-Israeli dispute over infamous Nazi Col. Adolf Eichmann.

There was no doubt Eichmann, the accused killer of millions of Jews who was discovered and captured by Israeli agents in a sensational kidnapping from Buenos Aires last month, would stand trial in Israel for his crimes.

Argentina indicated the injury done to its national dignity by the illegal abduction could be considered all but forgotten following yesterday's mild security council resolution asking Israel for "adequate reparation."

In Buenos Aires, Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Miguel Angel Centeno said the reparation might be nothing more than a public apology, such as already offered by Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir.

Fragrant Mugwort

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I had a letter from a Duncan reader last week asking me if I could tell her anything about a plant called Mugwort. It had been recommended to her as an attractive tall plant suitable for the back of the perennial border, but she couldn't believe that any plant with such an unattractive name was worthy of a place in the garden.

Mugwort is an old English name for the wormwood or Artemisia family but, as to how it got its name, I haven't the foggiest idea. One plant, Artemisia abrotanum, is known as Old Man and another, Stelleriana, is called Old Woman and is especially valuable for sandy gardens close to the sea. The one most commonly planted hereabouts is the Hawthorn-scented Mugwort, Artemisia lactiflora.

This one grows to a height of about three feet, with creamy white fragrant flowers in clustered spikes and aromatic foliage which was once used for flavoring ale and beer. Its chief use in olden times was for lighting fires. This was in the days before matches, when flint and steel was the only means of making fire and the fluff from the backs of the Artemisia leaves made ideal tinder to catch the spark and ignite.

While many of the Mugwort's near-relatives are remarkably drought-resistant plants—the sage brush of the western plains is a good example—our Hawthorn-scented variety likes plenty of moisture and a cool root run. Like Clematis, the plant responds in a most appreciative way to a couple of flat flagstones placed over the roots.

As June draws to an end, my family's attention becomes concentrated on the early potato plants in the back yard. All of us are beginning to drool a little at the idea of freshly dug new potatoes boiled and served in a cream sauce, for this is one of the taste treats of our garden year. None of the early new potatoes bought as expensive luxuries in the stores can compare with these home-grown little fellows for flavor.

As we haven't the room for more than a few rows of spuds, it seems like a frightful waste to go digging up whole potato plants so early in the season, and in fact many of the potatoes would be wasted, for the majority are no bigger than marbles and far too small to cook. We get around this dilemma by a rather unique mining operation.

When the urge for our first feed of new potatoes becomes too strong to resist, we tunnel into the ground under a plant with hand fork and fingers, making a hole just big enough for the arm to enter. Groping around the roots, we find and pick off a few of the biggest tubers from each plant until we have enough for a potful.

The holes are filled in carefully, the plants are given a good watering to settle the soil around their roots and they grow away to mature their crop just as if they had never been robbed.

Judo Lady Did

Throw Him a Little Higher

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—That was no lady you saw me with last night. That was Mrs. Gret Stott, women's judo champion of Great Britain.

My editor arranged the introduction something like this: "Musel," he said, "why don't you go out and wrestle this girl?" He held out a photograph of an attractive young lady in a summer dress.

"Delighted," I said. "What does she do?" "She's just beaten eight women in four men in one minute each to achieve the rare second dan—two degrees higher than a black belt—in judo," he said. I was about to decline with thanks when my editor—safe in his comfortable office—went on:

"She's only five feet four and you're five feet eight. Right?" "She only weighs 115 and you must weigh 185. Right? What's more didn't you once have a brown belt or something?"

Thus brainwashed, I forgot my judo experience was all pre-war and raced to suburban Beckenham to demand that Mrs. Stott come out and fight like a man.

The trouble was she fought like several men. Using the gymnasium mat as a launching pad she tossed me into orbit four or five times.

At this point photographer Charles Dawson became my former friend. "Can't you throw him a little higher, Mrs. Stott?" he suggested cheerfully. "Make a better picture."

I flew through the air with the greatest of ease. I only wish I had landed the same way.

While I was making sure the thigh bone was still connected with the hip bone, Mrs. Stott told me she was 25, her nickname is "Great Scott," she took up judo seven years ago and she has a husband whose hobby—a very understandable one—is collecting pistols.

Now Dawson had another idea. "Isn't there a strangle-hold?" he said.

Mrs. Stott obligingly began to choke me and as my cheeks turned purple they wrung an expression of regret from Dawson.

"Looking at his face," he said, "makes me feel sorry—I didn't bring any color film."

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

She Likes Sound of Music

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Joanne Woodward is asking 20th Century-Fox for the Mary Martin role in "The Sound of Music," for which the studio paid $1,000,000. Yes, Joanne can sing! In fact, she once auditioned for Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Pipe Dream." Joanne will star first in "Paris Blues," with husband Paul Newman and Sidney Poitier in Paris. But a little bird whispered that Doris Day will have first refusal for the great role in "Music."

Dennis Weaver, the limping Chester of "Gunsmoke," insists he wants out of the very successful series. But I believe he will remain with the team, if he gets a deal like big Jim "Marshal Dillon" Arness. Personally, I don't believe anyone should walk away from a winning streak.

Vivien Leigh couldn't stay away from her former country home, Nottley Abbey, where she lived during the happier years of her marriage to Sir Laurence Olivier. After her visit, the new owners reported Vivien was very depressed. And later in the evening, at the theatre in London, Vivien went home early explaining that she felt ill. Sir Laurence hopes they will settle the details of their divorce shortly.

Meanwhile, the next Lady Olivier, actress Joan Plowright, is merrily rehearsing for her next play, "Roots," and looking sublimely happy.

Sophia Loren wasn't exactly pleased when the director of her current picture, "The Millionaires," stated that for the first time Sophia was being called upon to act. I'm on Sophia's side. She did some of her best acting in Italy before she ever appeared in Hollywood or London. I thought she was especially good in "Gold of Naples."

The clan leaders, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford, have bought into the Cal Neva Lodge in Nevada. They are all going to be so rich. Going to be?

Yul Brynner, who likes to gamble, won a packet at the casino in Deauville, and now the new Mrs. Brynner is wearing a new diamond necklace around her slender throat.

The one-hour pilot for Jack Palance's new series for NBC cost in the neighborhood of $300,000—about three times more than anticipated.

Montgomery in China

Ming-Bing Would Smash Invaders

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on Viscount Montgomery's visit to China.)

By FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY

Being a soldier, it was readily understood in Peking when I said I wanted to see something of the Chinese Army—which normally is forbidden to foreigners. I was taken by car to see the 196th Infantry Division, stationed some 10 miles outside Tientsin. I was definitely impressed.

With national service and a huge population, the annual intake would be possibly 50,000,000. China does not need this number; indeed, the military authorities couldn't handle them. About 10 per cent are selected after the most rigorous tests—medical, physical and educational. This final 10 per cent gives the army a high-class annual entry, very intelligent and very quick to learn. They serve for three years, coming in at 18.

I saw elementary training by recruits on the barrack square, and firing on the rifle range—and what I saw was good. The Chinese weapons may not be all that a Western army would consider necessary; I saw the rifles, machine guns, mortars, recoilless guns, howitzers, anti-aircraft guns—all adequate for the type of war China might have to fight. But the first requirement of an army is an adequate supply of good men, and that the nation certainly has.

Every factory, university, school, business office, village, commune, and so on, has to have its own militia, and all fit persons between the ages of 18 and 25 have to serve. These militia units are the "Ming-Bing," the people's soldiers.

I inspected the militia unit of a factory in Canton which made electric torches. It was an amazing parade of men and women, all armed with rifles or tommy guns; there was an anti-aircraft gun section manned entirely by women; a signal section of men and women; and a medical section.

This militia organization covers the country, and in the event of a foreign invasion of China the invading army would have a very poor time—indeed, it would be engulfed by the Ming-Bing. I have always said that the second rule of war is not to go fighting with your land armies in China, and what I saw of the Ming-Bing proves the correctness of that rule. I was once asked what is the first rule of war, and I replied without any hesitation—"Don't march on Moscow." Various people have tried it, with disastrous results—notably Napoleon and Hitler!

Mao Tse-tung has laid down that everybody is to do physical training every morning and everybody does, because "Chairman Mao says." It is done in the early morning before going to work. I saw the best example of what goes on by watching from my bedroom window on the seventh floor of the Huping (Peace) Hotel in Shanghai. It was the morning after my dinner with Mao and we were leaving early to reach Canton in time to catch the 9.45 a.m. train back to Hong Kong.

I was having breakfast in my room at 5 a.m., the sun had risen and men and women were on their way to work. One man would run a 100 yards, then skip a few more, then halt and do bending and balancing exercises, then run on again. Shadow boxing was very popular with the younger men. Boys on their way to school did shadow boxing and bending, and some did sword exercises. At 5.30 a.m. the Ming-Bing of some large business appeared, formed up under an instructor and did collective physical training, and then marching practice.

As we drove through the streets to Shanghai Airport, the people were doing their training on the pavements while waiting for a bus. In one place, a man standing on a cart was giving instruction to all who cared to gather round—and many did. The result of all this physical training is that the nation is very fit, both men and women.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln-

dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood.
It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for glue-ing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heart-wood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen.
It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly-used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

Army Test Fantastic

Brigade major for the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group in West Germany, Major Bill Turner of Victoria shows how he uses jeep-telephone to direct operations on firing ranges.

(Turner is visiting Canadian Army and RCAF personnel in Europe, and their families.)

By EILEEN LEAROLD

SENNELAGER, Germany—Almost 5,000 Canadian soldiers are living in 1,600 canvas homes here.

Until the end of June they will carry out firing practice on 41 ranges of all types—as well as all-arms battle group manoeuvres. Canadian weapons "baptized" here are Sterling sub-machine guns and Browning .50-calibre medium machine guns.

TWO MORE YEARS

Here I met several Victorians—Major Bill Turner, Brigade major of 4 CIBG. Son of the late Col. Maurice Turner, former aide-de-camp at Government House, Victoria, he arrived here in September, 1959, and has almost another two years to serve in Germany.

In Victoria in '56-'57, he was CO of the 4th Light Ack Ack Battery. I chatted with him in his jeep at Wellington Range.

HIDDEN TRACKS

This is a fantastic place where soldiers fire at shapes of men who appear in windows of houses, jump up from behind bushes, appear and disappear from behind barns and—run in twos and threes along hidden tracks like ducks at a fairground shooting gallery.

Later at another range, it was Major Turner who directed an attack of tanks supported by infantry. An artillery battery fired over our heads—81 mm. mortar and 105 field guns. And the stuff was real.

THREE CHILDREN

Major Turner is here with his wife and three children. William, 7; Hope, 6; and John, six months.

Later at the Sterling Range, I met Major Dan Osborne, who was with the Queen's Own Rifles as second-in-command for two years in Victoria.

"A lot of my friends from the Scottish I served with in the 7th Brigade in the war are in Victoria—Hector Alexander, Fred Cabellu, Pete Ramsay and Jack Fawcett," he said. "Besides, I was married in Victoria in 1941."

GOING HOME

At Silvermount Range practice for an all-night shoot and dawn attack, I met Riflemen David Polkinghorne and George Gallant, both of Victoria. Both will be going home in about four months. Polkinghorne a single man, but Gallant has married a German girl called Helga.

Do they like it there? There are great opportunities for travel and they are glad they've been, but they are ready to go home.

OTHER ISLANDERS

More Islanders in the QOR's camp kitchen were L-Cpl. Richard Menzies, Nanaimo; L-Cpl. William Sparrow, Victoria, and Pte. Wm. Kellett, Victoria. They return home in November.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

A few years ago Mitzi Gaynor was asked to sub for her friend James Mason when he was host on Lux Video Theatre. James had a bad case of laryngitis and needed help just that one night. Mitzi agreed.

After the dress rehearsal, one of the show's assistants brought Mitzi a W2 form, explaining she had to fill it out before being paid for her chores.

"But I don't want any money," Mitzi protested. "I'm doing this for a friend. Mr. Mason is to get his full cheque."

The same assistant met her after the show. "We want you to know that you did a noble thing tonight, and our sponsor is most grateful. We put a package in your car to show how really grateful our sponsor is."

When Mitzi got to the car, she discovered six full cartons of all the sponsor's soap products. The following day she carefully measured out some of the soap powder from each box, sliced off bits of soap from every bar and poured off a little of the liquid detergents into tiny bottles.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. command of the Salvation Army will consider taking over Boys' Town, a ranch near Hope for wayward boys. The Army and B.C. Boys' Foundation will meet in July to discuss the matter.

TV Star's Dumbbell Hurts Man

NEW YORK (UPI)—A five-pound dumbbell fell eight storeys from television star Arlene Francis' Park Avenue apartment Thursday, critically injuring a visitor from Detroit who came here with his wife to celebrate his 60th birthday.

Alvin Rodecker, a broker, underwent two hours of surgery for a depressed skull fracture. He was in "very critical condition" and a tube was inserted in his throat to aid his breathing.

Police said Rodecker and his wife had just eaten lunch at a Park Avenue restaurant and were strolling on Park Avenue when he was struck on the head.

The dumbbell, used in exercising, had been on a window ledge in the Ritz Towers apartment of Miss Francis and her husband, producer Martin Gabel.

An air-conditioning unit had been removed from the apartment and two dumbbells had been holding a screen in place. One rolled out while a maid was cleaning.

Small Cars Keep Drivers 'On Job'

Ask the Expert Who...

Current trend to the use of smaller cars by many drivers is having a major, good effecting a part of what was around not anticipated by manufacturers, in the opinion of a man whose life has been devoted to traffic problems.

"The small car," said Bernard R. Caldwell, director of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, "is giving drivers back the realization that driving a car is a 100 per cent full-time job requiring all their attention."

"This has been my own experience, and that of thousands more. We drove around in the cushioned remoteness of power drive, power steer-conference in Victoria of Pacific Northwest graduates of the traffic institute, a gathering including representatives of state police of Oregon, Washington and Montana; the RCMP; city police of Seattle, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma, Walla Walla, Olympia, Vancouver and Victoria.

In typical "bull sessions" at the Empress Hotel, these men are thrashing out traffic problems and offering suggestions among themselves as to solutions.

Mr. Caldwell offered these suggestions to meet traffic problems: "Staggered working hours would thin out the peak traffic loads.

"Car pools among neighbors would effect both personal and public economy.

"Discovery of some economical, fast method of mass transportation which might have to become a tax-supported burden.

"Naturally, this would not be popular at first; no one wants more taxes. However, it may be the final solution for everyone."

"The water supply used in rural areas or at summer resorts should be regularly tested for purity."

Pay-Seizure Protection Law Tested

TORONTO (CP) — A test case will be brought in an Ontario court to challenge a provincial act preventing debtors' wages from being garnished, an official of the Canadian Collectors' Association said yesterday.

The amendment sets up consolidation orders allowing a debtor to pay off in installments through the court. Once a consolidation order is granted, a debtor's wages cannot be garnished.

Quebec Upset May Sway New Brunswick Vote

FREDERICTON (CP) — Three developments late in the New Brunswick election campaign have set politicians wondering about their possible effects at the polls Monday.

First, Ottawa said it will share with New Brunswick costs of a study to determine if the Chignecto Canal, a pet project of the province since Confederation, is worth building.

This was followed by the Liberals' Newfoundland and budget, which boosted gasoline and sales taxes.

Then came the Liberal upset of the Union Nationale party, considered by many to be the Quebec counterpart of the Tories.

Driving Cripple Charged as Drunk

EDMONTON (CP)—Albert Wells, 42-year-old paraplegic who operates a hand-controlled car, was charged with drunken driving and illegal possession of liquor yesterday after a 75-mile-an-hour chase.

He pleaded not guilty to the drunken driving charge and was remanded until July 5.

Eichmann Aide Arrested

BONN (UPI) — The West German government disclosed Thursday the arrest "some months ago" of notorious Nazi war criminal William Koppe, accused of helping Adolf Eichmann in the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews.

Bonn also said Argentina has agreed to extradite to West Germany Josef Mengele, chief doctor of Auschwitz concentration camp. He was arrested last month.

Koppe, a former general in the SS, helped supervise the occupation of Poland when Eichmann was organizing his extermination of Jews.

Israeli Act Illegal-UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN Security Council decided Thursday Israel acted illegally in gaining custody of Adolf Eichmann, but side-stepped any direct call for his return to Argentina.

It approved a mild Argentina resolution aimed at soothing that country's feelings over Eichmann's abduction.

Argentina Satisfied?

BUEONOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's undersecretary for foreign relations, Miguel Angel Centeno, indicated Thursday night that Argentina might accept Israel's apologies as adequate reparation in the Eichmann case.

Premier Bennett announced last night he will give Garibaldi Park to the federal government if Ottawa will develop it to winter Olympic standards in time for the 1968 Olympic Games.

He made the statement at Squamish, almost within sight of majestic Mt. Garibaldi, after presiding over a cabinet meeting there.

BRIGHT JEWEL

The offer represented a change-of-heart for the premier, who has referred to the provincial park as one of B.C.'s "brightest jewels" and spurned any suggestion that Ottawa should have anything to do with it.

But it may have been a tongue-in-cheek change-of-heart, for it came only a short time after a delegation told the cabinet it would cost $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 to develop the park to Olympic standards.

TWO HALVES

Previously, the premier had advised Ottawa that B.C. would put up half the money to stage the 1968 winter Olympics if Ottawa would put up the other half.

Ottawa replied it could not spend federal funds developing a provincial park and suggested that in order to get around that obstacle British Columbia might give the park to the nation.

DESIRABLE SITE

If Ottawa is prepared to accept the new offer, Premier Bennett wants it in writing, for "... it would be foolhardy to hand it over any other way," he said.

Garibaldi was named as a desirable winter games site earlier this year by Sidney Daves, Canadian member of the Olympic committee.

Garibaldi Park covers about 1,000 square miles and was created by the provincial government in 1926.

Its boundaries come within 40 miles of Vancouver and it is recognized as one of Canada's finest scenic areas.

EMPHATIC 'NO' AT POLLS FOR PARKING-MALL PLAN

Higher Meter Fee, Tax Fears Blamed

By R. O. MARRION

Victoria property owners emphatically said "no" yesterday to borrowing $1,000,000 for a parking and mall project intended to revitalize the centre of the city.

Of 6,978 who voted, 4,537 said no and 2,344—only 34 per cent—said yes. To pass, 60 per cent would have had to vote for it.

38 PER CENT

Nearly 38 per cent of those eligible to vote cast ballots, a "very good turnout" for a plebiscite returning officer M. F. Hunter said.

Mayor Percy Scurrell attributed the defeat of the bylaw—unanimously endorsed by city council—to two factors. One, he said, was the plan to increase parking meter fees. The extra revenue would have been used to make payments on the loan.

UNJUSTIFIED FEAR

The other, he said, was "unjustified fear of an increase in taxes."

"I regret," said the mayor, "that the electors haven't agreed with the unanimous, considered judgment of the councils of 1958, 1959 and 1960. However, if that is the way the people of the city want it, if they are satisfied with the parking situation, that's fine with me."

DEMOCRATIC WAY

"That's the democratic way of settling it, and I haven't any fault to find with the result."

Council will discuss the situation, he said, "but we haven't any alternative plan, up to the moment." Nor, he thought, could the small merchants provide the needed off-street parking. "They just haven't that kind of money."

GREATLY PLEASED

By contrast, J. Donald Smith, M.L.A., was greatly pleased with the results of the voting.

"I certainly want to congratulate the citizens of Victoria on turning down the $1,000,000 bylaw," he said when it became apparent, early in the counting of ballots, that the defeat was going to be in the order of two to one.

MORE POSITIVE

"I suggest now a more positive approach to the problem," he said, "a solution whereby all the merchants of the city will benefit, not just a small group. The downtown merchants have spent enough to have gone a long way in providing accommodation for many automobiles. I hope now that the machine so active in the last year and a half will be put to bed in the interests of the citizens."

JOSH EACH OTHER

But he and Mayor Scurrell managed to josh each other, and both had a good laugh over a telegram from the "Around Town Taxpayers' Association" to Mr. Smith saying, "Congratulations. How do your dandelions grow?"

Former alderman Robert Macmillan, who like Mr. Smith was defeated by Mayor Percy Scurrell last December in an election with the parking and mall plan as the main issue, and who was one of the main opponents of the plan in the campaign before yesterday's vote, said he now looked forward to "an era of business improvement by business—it certainly can stand improvement."

The bylaw rejection coupled with the Hillside Plaza shopping centre development, he said, "is the best thing that's happened in many years."

But others didn't think so.

DISAPPOINTED

"I'm disappointed that we couldn't revitalize the downtown area with this plan, particularly in view of the announcement of the Hillside Plaza development which undoubtedly will have a marked effect on the downtown core," said city engineer James Garnett.

Silence Shrouds Bond

By TERRY HAMMOND

Where is the $500,000 "good faith" bond posted by the Wenner-Gren interests with the provincial government in 1956?

A series of developments here and in Vancouver yesterday indicated that the government may no longer have it.

CAN'T RECALL

Asked pointblank if the $500,000 bond had been returned to the Wenner-Gren interests, Einar M. Gunderson, a former B.C. finance minister and now a director of Wenner-Gren Development Co., said, "It's just slipped my mind."

Pressed further by a Colonist reporter he replied, "just at this point I can't remember."

WOULDN'T SAY

Earlier yesterday Dr. J. V. Fisher, economic adviser to the B.C. government, said he would make no comment when queried on the whereabouts of the bond.

Contacted yesterday afternoon by reporters, the premier's executive assistant, who was accompanying him to a Squamish cabinet meeting, told reporters he would bring to the attention of Mr. Bennett the interest in the fate of the bond.

NOT TAKING ANY

But when contacted last night, the premier's aide referred the Colonist to the premier himself who was registered at the Vancouver Hotel.

When Mr. Bennett's room was reached the reply was that he was not taking any telephone calls.

RETICENCE NEW

Newsmen recalled that previously the government was always happy to announce the half-million-dollar surety was still in the possession of the province.

The bond was posted by the Wenner-Gren interests as a guarantee that they would fulfill certain undertakings in connection with its exploration and engineering projects in the Peace River area.

OBLIGATIONS

Originally posted in 1956 as a guarantee that the Wenner-Gren people would spend a minimum of $5,000,000 on surveys and engineering in the Peace River-Rocky Mountain Trench area, the bond became a continuing obligation under the 1957 Wenner-Gren hydro agreement.

One of the conditions under which the bond was held in connection with the power agreement was that the principals would "proceed with the construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River" if engineering studies and surveys substantiated "preliminary conclusions."

The premier is expected to make a statement on the performance bond later this week.

Canadians Misled, 'Won't Survive'

OTTAWA (CP)—Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam) said Thursday he is worried that Canadians are being led to think there is hope for survival in nuclear war.

"There is no defence, and we will not survive a nuclear war," he said in the Commons.

Mr. Regier said he felt "utter dismay" at the government's recent publication of a booklet on how to build basement shelters against radioactive fallout.

"I hope this is not part of a conditioning process of the public mind."

No Canadian had any reason to expect he could live through an all-out nuclear war.

Wicks Acts

Northern Railway Gets Go Ahead

SQUAMISH (CP)—Railways Minister Wicks said Thursday night he has given the Pacific Northern Railway the go-ahead on construction. (See page 8.)

The minister said in an interview he had approved plans under the Railway Act and construction could start.

Specific plans approved were all rail marshalling yards at Summit Lake, north of Prince George, where the PNR starts its proposed route through to the Yukon border.

He said there are some technical details to straighten out before work begins but it should go ahead before the end of June.

Under an agreement with the government, the company must start building the 700-mile railway before June 30. But PUC hearings cannot take place until the middle of July at the earliest.

Recently Premier Bennett said construction was expected to start on time—under the Railways Act.

Walker Paddles His Own Canoe

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Walker, whose new office building is on the bank of the Rideau River, says he intends to paddle a canoe to work.

Mr. Walker, 55, lives a mile farther upstream from the new Sir Charles Tupper Building about 10 miles from Parliament Hill. His lawn runs to the water's edge.

"I find it is only taking me about 18 minutes to go more than a mile, and I find it keeps me in good shape," Mr. Walker said.

He plans to go to work by canoe "every day I have the time." However, it won't become a daily habit until after the current session of Parliament ends. During sessions, Mr. Walker makes his office headquarters in the Parliament Buildings.

The Toronto Rosedale member, who has been minister since last Aug. 20, plans to keep an extra pair of pressed trousers in his Tupper building office to change after paddling to work.

Only Legal Owner Of B.C. Is Indian

British Columbia Indians have a claim to all the land in the province, no matter who holds "legal" title to it, Rev. Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo warned in Victoria yesterday.

"Treaties have been made with Indian tribes across Canada, but treaties have not been made with Indians in B.C.," he said.

"In 1811 the B.C. Land Bill came before the House of Commons and the minister of lands then pointed out that until that was done this bill could not pass. That bill was disallowed.

"Later on, the following session, it was brought up again and allowed to pass, possibly through political pressure."

"It was passed with a warning that B.C. would have to deal with the Indian title. This was never done."

"So, some day you might find your title to your lot is not as sound as you thought it was."

Reserve Sanitation at Crisis, Shocks Indian Clergyman

Making a plea for improved conditions for Indians living on reserves in British Columbia, Rev. Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo yesterday described as "appalling and shocking" conditions he saw recently on the Nanaimo reserve.

"If an epidemic of typhoid fever were to break out through conditions like that it would not be confined to the reservation," he said.

He claimed the provincial government should see Indian people have the same standard of living as other citizens of the province with improved roads and facilities.

"An Indian superintendent, simply because he is appointed to that office, does not become an expert on welfare. Why should he deal with things he does not know anything about?"

Dr. Kelly was speaking to a meeting of the Community Welfare Council in Spencer House. The council is forming a study committee from Greater Victoria groups which are interested in Indian welfare.

He called for provincial government aid for Indians to deal with health, welfare and sanitation problems, taking over the responsibilities from the federal government.

Once a "proud, independent" race, B.C. Indians have lost their self-confidence through years of being regulated and governed by the white man, Dr. Kelly said.

"At one time the Indian did not consider himself inferior—they were the rulers so far as the country was concerned," he said.

"Now the Indian thinks that possibly he is not able to decide for himself. Things have been done for him so long that, today, he has the provincial vote he has not availed himself of it much."

Dr. Kelly said that when the federal government gives the Indians a vote in federal affairs there may be more reaction as Indians have had much more to do with the federal government than the provincial government.

Inquest Held Up By RCAF

LAKE COWICHAN — Inquest into the death of Brentwood fishing guide Claude James Creed, 23, who plummeted 80 feet to his death while being hoisted up to a helicopter during the Nitinat Lake air search, will not be resumed until the RCAF has concluded its own inquiry into the mishap.

RCMP here said yesterday they still had no word when the RCAF report would be forthcoming.

Creed, who was helping in the search for his uncle, Cecil Rawlings — one of two Victoria businessmen whose plane crashed in the wilds near Nitinat Lake — was killed early this month.

Elderly Woman Treated After Crash with Bicycle

A 90-year-old woman was treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday morning and allowed to go home, after being in collision with a bicycle at Douglas and View at 10:20 a.m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Finlay, of 1023 Belmont, was crossing Douglas at the time of the accident. City police ask any witnesses to the accident to report to the traffic office on Fisgard Street.

Tail of Flames Seen By Seven in Crofton

CROFTON—Seven persons here are willing to agree with scientists that there are no such things as flying saucers.

But they are wondering what it was they saw streak across the sky Wednesday night heading west in front of a tail of flames.

They don't believe in saucers. Maybe it was a freak of nature or the rocket carrier Thor-Able-Star that the United States Air Force used to launch two moonlets Wednesday morning.

"We were sitting in the dining room, looking out over the water and talking when I first saw it," said William Boyle, 70, yesterday. He clocked it from 9:35 to 9:47 p.m. when it went down behind the horizon.

He is a resident in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon F. Vauthrin, 8065 Berridge, who were with him and also sighted it.

A boarder, Robert Bickell, 20, a UBC student, also saw it with a friend, Walter Brooks, York Road here. They were all together.

Mrs. Vauthrin called next door neighbors, Mrs. John Bardsley, who looked at it through a telescope with her daughter, Diane.

"It sure gave us an eerie feeling," said Mrs. Vauthrin yesterday. "Mr. Boyle said, 'Look, there's a flying saucer.' We saw this object that looked like a flame of a torch."

Mr. Boyle said the moving object passed behind two stationary objects, much like two small boat sails, and that they became dimmer as the other object drew away. When the glowing object had gone, the two stationary objects appeared to have been parts of cloud.

"We weren't drinking or talking about flying saucers at the time. We don't believe in them, anyway. We don't think it was a saucer, but we talked it over that the thing might be part of that (United States) rocket or just a freak of nature," said Mr. Boyle.

DUNCAN — A woman here is seeking a Vancouver man, believed to be a Colonist subscriber, who may hold the link to her getting more than $1,000,000.

The man wrote an anonymous letter to Mrs. Roy Harte, 63, after the last Colonist story and brought her a step closer to tracking down a fortune her father and grandmother said belonged to the family.

"He told me to see a certain man, and I did," said Mrs. Harte. "The letter also referred to a publication in 1906 of an advertisement asking for information of the next-of-kin to do with the O'Keefe millions."

Mrs. Harte says she is trying to weed through a lot of hearsay evidence that has come down through the family like a legend, and see if an English law firm really has advertised looking for relatives.

Between 1847 and 1850 an ad was placed in a Lindsay, Ontario, paper which Mrs. Harte's father saw. Friends have told Mrs. Harte of seeing the ad within the last year.

The letter from the unidentified Vancouver resident led to a meeting with a descendant of another line of the O'Keefe family, but now she needs more information.

The writer is asked to answer in care of the Colonist's Duncan bureau, 30 Kenneth Street, giving his or her name and address.

DUNCAN — Archibald V. Martin, Old Koksilah Road, was fined $20 in court yesterday for speeding at 40 in a 30-mph zone June 13 on Highway 97 at Winfield, B.C. He pleaded guilty through lawyer Lance Heard.

LADYSMITH — The school board of District 67 (Ladysmith) has awarded tender for completion of an unfinished classroom at Mount Brenton School to J. Stewart & Sons of Nanaimo, with low bid of $3,294.

This project is part of building program approved in the 1958 referendum.

PASKSVILLE — Following a request from proprietors of motels and hotels in the village it was decided to open the municipal garbage area for one hour on Monday and Wednesday each week during the summer months in addition to the regular times on Wednesday and Sunday.

Additional hours are 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. on the two days. During the first season an attendant must be on hand when garbage is dumped to observe fire regulations.

Also at the regular council meeting a request was made by Dudley Wickett, representing the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Bureau committee, that power for the tourist bureau sign might be obtained from the street lighting system in the area. Council agreed to study the proposal pending approval of the building inspector and the B.C. Power Commission.

A suggestion was made that the pedestrian crosswalk at the intersection of the Island and Alberni highways might be put in an improved position. This was discussed and will be referred to the department of highways.

Permission was granted the RCAF to drop leaflets over Parksville on July 2 to publicize Air Force Day at Comox on July 9.

The water rates and regulations bylaw was given final reading and adopted, as was the annual regulations bylaw. The first three readings were given to a new trades licence bylaw which will bring trades licence fees up in line with other municipalities.

A public hearing has been set for July 18 at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of regarding the proposal to rezone lots 41, 42, and 53 of DL 13, plan 1563. Council chairman A. J. Lock gave a report on the recent annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities which he attended at Courtenay.

Orphanage, Hospital Share in Big Estate

$200,000 Bequest To Anscomb

Queen Alexandra Solarium, B.C. Protestant Orphanage, St. John's Church and Royal Jubilee Hospital each receive $5,250 from F. A. "Gus" Gowan's $336,000 estate, one of three probated at the court house here recently.

After further bequests to relatives and friends, residue — about $200,000 — goes to childless widower Herbert Anscomb, Coalition government cabinet minister (1941-52), reeve of Oak Bay (1925-27) and mayor of Victoria (1929-31).

Mr. Gowan, a childless widower, willed $100 a month to his sister, Miss Mary Emma Gowan, who died a few weeks later, leaving her $18,000 estate to relatives, with exception of $500 each to Christian Science Church and that church's rest home, Wayside House, at Foul Bay and Chandler.

PIONEER BREWER
Born in Victoria in 1868, Mr. Gowan was son of a well-to-do pioneer brewer.

Mrs. Muriel Dunsmuir, who died in Paris, left a $197,000 estate, largest bequest, $25,000, going to a nephew, Robin Dunsmuir, of Victoria, only descendant of Vancouver Island coal, timber, railway and shipping baron Robert Dunsmuir, builder of Craigdarroch Castle, to bear the Dunsmuir family name.

Mrs. Dunsmuir left $10,000 to her elder sister, Mrs. John Hope, who lives in Portugal, but now visiting Vancouver Island. There are smaller bequests to nieces and nephews, $5,000 to a life-long Victoria friend, Miss Innes Bodwell; $1,000 each to Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stalker of Victoria, former members of her household staff.

Residue of this estate, after bequests of about $100,000 — goes to her younger sister, Mrs. Dola Cavendish of "Dolaura," Colwood.

H. G. T. Perry, Speaker of the legislature from 1933 to 1937, minister of education from 1941 to 1945, and former owner-publisher of The Prince George Citizen and The Prince Rupert News, left a $189,000 estate to his widow, two sons and other relatives. He had lived some years in retirement in Victoria.

Police, Jury Recommendation

B.C. May Reword Middle-Lane Signs

A highways department official said yesterday that "very serious consideration" is being given to a suggestion that B.C. abandon three-lane highway markers which read "slow traffic use right lane."

In their place would go signs indicating that the centre lane is for passing only.

Recommendations that the present signs be scrapped because they constitute a traffic hazard have come from inquest juries and, more recently, from the RCMP.

Police claim that the present signs are misleading because they encourage people to believe that they may lawfully drive in the centre lane at all times if their vehicle does not come under the definition of "slow traffic."

They point out, as did a highways department official yesterday, that the Motor Vehicle Act clearly states that where there are two lanes for traffic going in one direction, motorists must use the right lane and move to the left lane only for passing.

Evidence presented at the inquest indicated the cars met in the centre lane.

Also protesting three-lane highway signs is the Greater Victoria and District Safety Council, whose traffic committee chairman, William G. Ferrie, recently termed the markers "most ambiguous" in a letter to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

District Firemen Answer Grass, Bush Blaze Alarms

Firemen in the Greater Victoria area were called out to two grass fires yesterday.

Children were seen playing with firecrackers shortly before a small grass fire broke out in Oak Bay at the top of Ingewood at 7 p.m. Langford firemen pumped 400 gallons of water on a bush fire which started at 3:15 p.m. at Brock and Deville.

It is not hot enough yet for grass fires to constitute a major danger, but the grass is dry and people should be careful, firemen said yesterday.

Slowpokes Face Arrests On Patricia Bay Highway

Slowpoke drivers on the Patricia Bay Highway face a crackdown by police unless they mend their ways.

Action was triggered by complaints from B.C. government ferry service officials who said slow drivers were holding up ferry-catching buses, causing some near misses on ferry connections. Sidney RCMP Cpl. William Stanton said last night police would take necessary action and prosecute flagrant violators travelling too slowly on the highway.

He warned slow drivers to keep an eye on the mirror and pull to the side of the road when they see they are causing a pile-up.

Central Saanich police chief F. L. Brownlee said the municipal force would aid with the crackdown.

Slowpoke drivers are liable to fines from $10-$300 or in default of payment up to six months in jail.

Nanaimo Turns Purple

Picnic Site To Open

The provincial government next Thursday will open a 43-acre picnic site near Port Alberni, a weekend holiday spot which is expected to attract thousands of Vancouver Island residents.

A spokesman for the department of recreation and conservation said the Sproat Lake picnic area is a "jewel" in British Columbia's park system. The property was given to the government by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

There is parking space for 320 cars and 160 picnic tables have been built in the area. There is space for 60 cars and boat trailers near five launching ramps.

Strict "no camping" regulations will be enforced at the site. Officials say camping would preclude enjoyment of the 2,500 feet of excellent beach.

An additional feature of the development is a water-skiing float, the first to be built by the recreation department. Change houses will be built later.

The Route 1 sign bears only the words "Duncan and Nanaimo." There is no mention that ferry service is available at Nanaimo.

The Route 17 sign bears the word "ferries" and directs traffic towards the new Swartz Bay wharf of the government-operated Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry service.

Transportation companies, merchants and chamber of commerce objected to the signs which they claimed should bear the word "ferries" where Route 1 was concerned.

Two weeks ago, Recreation Minister Westwood and member for Nanaimo in the B.C. house, said: "These signs are being taken down immediately."

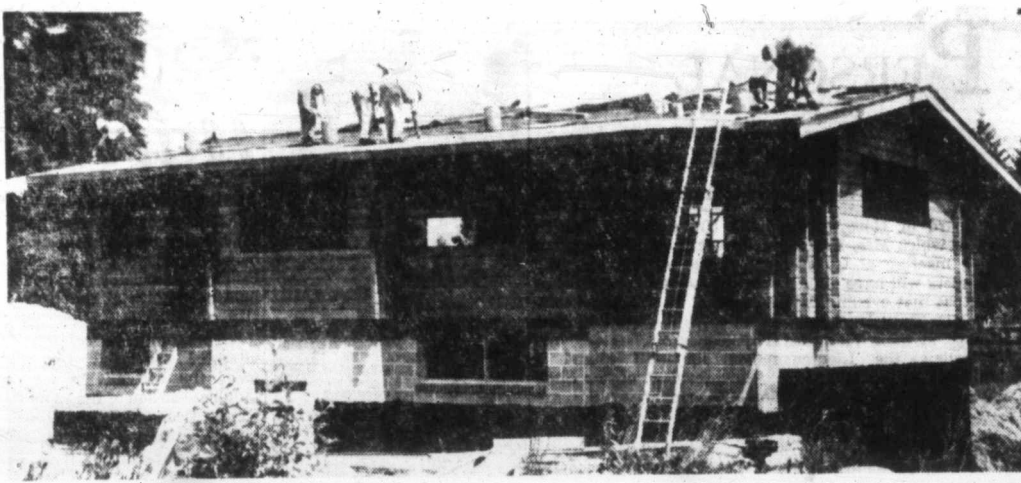

Mr. Westwood added that he had talked to Highways Minister Gagliardi and that immediate steps would be taken to remove the signs. When replaced the signs were to indicate that ferries were available at Nanaimo.

Two new signs have added to the ire of upper-island residents.

Both signs are at the junction of Highways 1 and 17. One sign says: "British Columbia ferry to Vancouver—turn right, follow it." The other says: "Turn left, follow it."

Indian Pupils Off To B.C. Coast Homes

ALBERNI — Approximately 270 children are scattering to homes up and down the mainland coast this weekend as Alberni Indian Residential School closes for the summer holidays. The are travelling by boat, train and planes to centres as far distant as Bella Coola.

At closing exercises Thursday night A. E. Caldwell, retiring after 16 years as principal of A.I.R.S., was honored by the students.

Valedictorian Judy Brown said that Mr. Caldwell had shown an understanding of the native people after many years of work among them.

Reggie Joseph presented, on behalf of the students, mounted photographs of the school and the student body to Mr. Caldwell.

Principal J. E. Denny was master of ceremonies during the impressive exercises which included selections by the school choir, solos by Mrs. Denny and Doreen Clellanis. Awards presented during the evening included: scholarship, presented by J. C. Lawrence, district supervisor of Indian schools, to Dahlbert George, Dianne Shaw, Shirley Mack, Roy Wallace, Alec Underwood, Elsie Jones, Jacqueline Jones, Robert Cootes, Randy Fred, Anne Mack, Michael Bolton, Gail Mack, Karen Vickers, John Thomas, James Cootes.

Goody Inch-Long Orphan

Hummingbird Stuck on Meal At Foster Home

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — The latest report on the hummingbird fledgling in the care of Mrs. L. B. D. Drummond is that it is doing well.

But for a day or two Mrs. Drummond had a problem—how to clean a sticky, inch-long, delicate baby bird.

It's menu of sweet syrupy feedings got it all "goed up" and Betty gently cleaned it the best way she could, but now the baby bird is beginning to "preen" its tiny feathers so perhaps that problem will take care of itself.

Betty's protegee will sit on her finger now, and its little feet clutch tightly as it hangs on.

"I think it was starved for two days before I took over," says Betty. "It is backward in growing feathers, otherwise I think it would be off and flying."

It calls softly whenever it hears Betty come near and is trying out its inadequate wings and seems to have lots of "get up and go."

The baby hummingbird fell out of the nest once, trying to take off, but Betty rescued it in time.

Then she moved it into the house and it is now living in a cottage cheese box, and its bed is a Kleenex, which is changed every day. Betty tried a wool bed but the tiny feet got tangled in the threads.

The fledgling preferred milk and sugar to honey and water but will now take honey from Betty's finger.

Chamber Offers Hand For Big Yacht Race

LADYSMITH — Chamber of Commerce is offering every assistance to the West Vancouver Yacht Club which will sponsor a big race July 16. Manana Lodge, at Ladysmith, is headquarters.

Representatives meeting with the yacht club officials here Sunday were village commission chairman L. T. Ryan, chamber president Stanley Heys, John MacNaughton and E. F. N. Robinson.

The chamber plans to set up an information booth at Manana providing sketches showing the best fishing spots, and other places of local interest.

Some 150 boats will be here for this event which is predicted to be one of the biggest log cruises in the world. About 600 visitors are expected and many will be staying in these waters for a week or more.

The big event has been publicized in the boating magazines.

Manana Lodge is planning an outdoor salmon barbecue for the visiting yachtsmen. A huge pit is being readied for this specialty.

Refugee Year Showing 'Regrettable'—Strachan

COWICHAN LAKE — Opposition leader Robert Strachan last night said it is "regrettable" that the province hasn't participated more fully in World Refugee Year.

He told a group of more than 100 persons here that the provincial government should have "accepted our share" of the 100 tuberculosis victims brought to Canada several months ago. The province took none.

Garibaldi Gift To Ottawa?

PREMIER BENNETT
... change of heart

Eichmann Aide Arrested

BONN (UPI) — The West German government disclosed Thursday the arrest "some months ago" of notorious Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann, accused of helping Adolf Hitler in the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews.

Bonn also said Argentina has agreed to extradite to West Germany Josef Mengele, chief doctor of Auschwitz concentration camp. He was arrested last month.

Koppe, a former general in the SS, helped supervise the occupation of Poland when Eichmann was organizing his extermination of Jews.

Israeli Act Illegal-UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The UN Security Council decided Thursday Israel acted illegally in gaining custody of Adolf Eichmann, but side-stepped any direct call for his return to Argentina.

It approved a mild Argentina resolution aimed at soothing that country's feelings over the incident. (See also Page 20.)

Argentina Satisfied?

BUEENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's undersecretary for foreign relations, Miguel Angel Centeno, indicated Thursday night that Argentina might accept Israel's apologies as adequate reparation in the Eichmann case.

Premier Bennett announced last night he will give Garibaldi Park to the federal government if Ottawa will develop it to winter Olympic standards in time for the 1968 Olympic Games.

He made the statement at Squamish, almost within sight of majestic Mt. Garibaldi, after presiding over a cabinet meeting there.

BRIGHT JEWEL

The offer represented a change-of-heart for the premier, who has referred to the provincial park as one of B.C.'s "brightest jewels" and spurned any suggestion that Ottawa should have anything to do with it.

But it may have been a tongue-in-cheek change-of-heart, for it came only a short time after a delegation told the cabinet it would cost $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 to develop the park to Olympic standards.

TWO HALVES

Previously, the premier had advised Ottawa that B.C. would put up half the money to stage the 1968 winter Olympics if Ottawa would put up the other half.

Ottawa replied it could not spend federal funds developing a provincial park and suggested that in order to get around that obstacle British Columbia might give the park to the nation.

DESIRABLE SITE

If Ottawa is prepared to accept the new offer, Premier Bennett wants it in writing, for "... it would be foolhardy to hand it over any other way," he said.

Garibaldi was named as a desirable winter games site earlier this year by Sidney Daves, Canadian member of the Olympic committee.

Garibaldi Park covers about 1,000 square miles and was created by the provincial government in 1926.

Its boundaries come within 40 miles of Vancouver and is recognized as one of Canada's finest scenic areas.

OTTAWA (CP)—Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam) said Thursday he is worried that Canadians are being led to think there is hope for survival in nuclear war.

"There is no defence, and we will not survive a nuclear war," he said in the Commons.

Mr. Regier said he felt "utter dismay" at the government's recent publication of a booklet on how to build basement shelters against radioactive fallout.

"I hope this is not part of a conditioning process of the public mind."

No Canadian had any reason to expect he could live through an all-out nuclear war.

Wicks Acts

Northern Railway Gets Go-Ahead

SQUAMISH (CP)—Railways Minister Wicks said Thursday night he has given the Pacific Northern Railway the go-ahead on construction. (See Page 8.)

The minister said in an interview he had approved plans under the Railway Act and construction could start.

Specific plans approved were all rail marshalling yards at Summit Lake, north of Prince George, where the PNR starts its proposed route through the Yukon border.

He said there are some technical details to straighten out before work begins but it should go ahead before the end of June.

Under an agreement with the government, the company must start building the 700-mile railway before June 30.

But PUC hearings cannot take place until the middle of July at the earliest.

Recently Premier Bennett said construction was expected to start on time—under the Railways Act.

Silence Shrouds Bond

By TERRY HAMMOND

Where is the $500,000 "good faith" bond posted by the Wenner-Gren interests with the provincial government in 1956?

A series of developments here and in Vancouver yesterday indicated that the government may no longer have it.

CAN'T RECALL

Asked pointblank if the $500,000 bond had been returned to the Wenner-Gren interests, Einar M. Gunderson, a former B.C. finance minister and now a director of Wenner-Gren Development Co., said, "It's just slipped my mind."

Pressed further by a Colonist reporter he replied, "Just at this point I can't remember."

WOULDN'T SAY

Earlier yesterday Dr. J. V. Fisher, economic adviser to the B.C. government, said he would make no comment when queried on the whereabouts of the bond.

Contacted yesterday afternoon by reporters, the premier's executive assistant, who was accompanying him to a Squamish cabinet meeting, told reporters he would bring to the attention of Mr. Bennett the interest in the fate of the bond.

NOT TAKING ANY

But when contacted last night, the premier's aide referred the Colonist to the premier himself who was registered at the Vancouver Hotel.

When Mr. Bennett's room was reached the reply was that he was not taking any telephone calls.

RETICENCE NEW

Newsmen recalled that previously the government was always happy to announce the half-million-dollar surety was still in the possession of the province.

The bond was posted by the Wenner-Gren interests as a guarantee that they would fulfill certain undertakings in connection with its exploration and engineering projects in the Peace River area.

OBLIGATIONS

Originally posted in 1956 as a guarantee that the Wenner-Gren people would spend a minimum of $5,000,000 on surveys and engineering in the Peace River-Rocky Mountain Trench area, the bond became a continuing obligation under the 1957 Wenner-Gren hydro agreement.

One of the conditions under which the bond was held in connection with the power agreement was that the principals would "proceed with the construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River" if engineering studies and surveys substantiated "preliminary conclusions."

The premier is expected to make a statement on the performance bond later this week.

No Alternative Says Scurrah

By R. O. MARRION

Victoria property owners emphatically said "no" yesterday to borrowing $1,000,000 for a parking and mall project intended to revitalize the centre of the city.

Of 6,978 who voted, 4,537 said no and 2,441—only 34 per cent—said yes. To pass, 60 per cent would have had to vote for it.

38 PER CENT

Nearly 38 per cent of those eligible to vote cast ballots, a "very good turnout" for a plebiscite, returning officer M. F. Hunter said.

Mayor Percy Scurrah attributed the defeat of the bylaw—unanimously endorsed by city council—to two factors. One, he said, was the plan to increase parking meter fees. The extra revenue would have been used to make payments on the loan.

UNJUSTIFIED FEAR

The other, he said, was "unjustified fear of an increase in taxes."

"I regret," said the mayor, "that the electors haven't agreed with the unanimous consideration of the council of 1958, 1959 and 1960. However, if that is the way the people of the city want it, if they are satisfied with the parking situation, that's fine with me."

DEMOCRATIC WAY

"That's the democratic way of settling it, and I haven't any fault to find with the result."

Council will discuss the situation, he said, "but we haven't any alternative plan, up to the moment." Nor, he thought, could the small merchants provide the needed off-street parking. "They just haven't that kind of money."

GREATLY PLEASED

By contrast, J. Donald Smith, MLA, was greatly pleased with the results of the voting.

"I certainly want to congratulate the citizens of Victoria on turning down the $1,000,000 bylaw," he said when it became apparent, early in the counting of ballots, that the defeat was going to be in the order of two to one.

MORE POSITIVE

"I suggest now a more positive approach to the problem," he said, "a solution whereby all the merchants of the city will benefit, not just a small group. The downtown merchants have spent enough to have gone a long way in providing accommodation for many automobiles. I hope now that the machine so active in the last year and a half will be put to bed in the interests of the citizens."

JOSH EACH OTHER

But he and Mayor Scurrah managed to josh each other, and both had a good laugh over a telegram from the "Around Town Taxpayers Association" to Mr. Smith saying, "Congratulations. How do your dandelions grow?"

Former alderman Robert Macmillan, who like Mr. Smith was defeated by Mayor Percy Scurrah last December in an election with the parking and mall plan as the main issue, and who was one of the main opponents of the plan in the campaign before yesterday's vote, said he now looked forward to "an era of business improvement by business—it certainly can stand improvement."

The bylaw rejection coupled with the Hillside Plaza shopping centre development, he said, "is the best thing that's happened in many years."

DISAPPOINTED

"I'm disappointed that we couldn't revitalize the downtown area with this plan, particularly in view of the announcement of the Hillside Plaza development which undoubtedly will have a marked effect on the downtown core," said city engineer James Garnett.

"Automobile registration this year is 7 per cent higher than last year and more than 100 per cent greater than 10 years ago, and if this trend continues, as it undoubtedly will, something will have to be done if downtown Victoria is to remain healthy."

His assistant and the designer of the plan, Roderick Clack, said he felt the defeat "means the loss of one of the greatest opportunities we are likely to have for civic revitalization."

VERY IMPORTANT

And T. G. Denny, a member of the Victoria Downtown Business Association, said the association was greatly disappointed.

"We felt that with the recent announcement of development away from the city centre people would realize how very, very important this plan was to all of us in Victoria," he said.

"I feel that this has set us back years. We had a tremendous opportunity without changing taxes to develop a wonderful plan."

NOT UNDERSTOOD

Mr. Denny said he believed too few voters really understood the plan—"I'm sure everyone who understood it was in favor of it."

Downtown business now would have to pursue "second lines of thought," he said, but he didn't see how merchants could provide the necessary parking. Even if they had the capital, he said, they lacked power to expropriate property as the city could.
